Quakes' Toll Rises To 9, Woman Dies

Guardsmen Move Into Ravaged Area To Prevent Looting

WEST YELLOWSTONE PARK, Mont. (AP)—National Guardsmen moved into this earthquake-ravaged area today to prevent possible looting.

The quakes' death toll, meanwhile, reached nine. Mrs. Ray Painter, 42, of Ogden, Utah died Thursday in a Bozeman, Mont., hospital. She was hurt when the quake split a mountain and sent it thundering down on Rock Creek campground and into the Madison River.

Search officials fear other campers may be entombed in that massive landslide. Army engineers are expected to determine soon whether to attempt to move the 50 million tons of rock, earth and debris.

In addition to the known victims, Mrs. Thomas Stowe of Sandy, Utah, is missing and presumed dead. Her husband was killed.

The Guardsmen replaced Idaho and Wyoming state patrolmen who joined others from Montana in rescue operations during the chaos that followed the multiple earth shocks of Monday night and Tuesday.

Lesser jolts continued in the area Thursday. The U.S. Geodetic Survey counted 372 aftershocks.

The aftershocks, rain and the threat of new landslides has delayed groups searching for possible other victims.

Pennsylvania Starts Paying New 4% Tax After Lawrence OK

GOVERNOR GETS PETITIONS. L. D. Poynter, state president of the Association of Citizens Council of Arkansas (right), presents Gov. Orval E. More Items Are Subject To Measure

Governor Seeks 6-Mill Levy On Stocks And Bonds

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's sales tax was boosted to four per cent Friday afternoon as Gov. David L. Lawrence, expressing personal reluctance but administrative responsibility, signed the measure into law.

A number of additional items and services are subject to the levy.

The measure won House approval of Senate amendments at 2:40 p. m., and Gov. Lawrence signed it at 3:05.

With the final stroke of the governor's pen thousands of Pennsylvanians were added to the list of persons responsible for the collection of the tax and its remittance to the state.

They must be licensed, at no cost, by the state's Bureau of Sales and Use Tax. It is up to the individual or firm to seek the license.

Upon signing the bill the governor immediately began pressing the State Senate for passage of the $55,000,000 revenue bill which would impose a six-mill levy on such intangible personal property as stocks and bonds.

Although Senate Republican sentiment is strongly against this measure — and the Republicans run the Senate — the governor said:

"The enactment of the personal property tax is absolutely essential. Beyond providing a large portion of the revenues still required, this measure will also distribute the tax burden more fairly.

"It seems to me that no one can legitimately object to such a levy in view of the tremendous burden which has been imposed upon the consumers."

The governor stated that passage of the sales tax bills leaves him $97,400,000 short of his budget requirements. All but $24,200,000 of this would be met by passage of the two bills in the Senate to double the tax on bank shares and impose gross receipts tax on gas utilities at 14 mills, and passage of the intangible personal property tax.

The Senate appears fully willing

City Club Asks Food Aid For Steel Strikers

Democrats, County Commissioners Meet On Assistance Plans

The surplus food committee of the East Liverpool Democrat Club met Thursday with Columbiana County commissioners at Lisbon to request that needy steel workers on strike be allowed to participate in the assistance program.

The group, headed by Clarence E. Reagle, chairman, includes Robert Croyle, Donal Burcham, James Flasco, Floyd Murray, John Vargo, James Moore and John Melvin.

They met with Commissioners R. Max Gard, Walter Hunston and Frank Wilson and Robert Bycroft, county welfare director and manager of the surplus foods distribution.

Gard advised the committee that some 200 strikers received foods at distributions Wednesday and Thursday at Wellsville and East Liverpool. He said attempts are being made to obtain more of a variety of foodstuffs.

The group cited instances where they believed a steelworker should have been given food but was refused.

Bycroft said that the ones who signed and were in need received the surplus food for this month but that the state set the regulations which all welfare agencies must follow. The person who is eligible gets their food. The state surplus foods director said there would be no exceptions, Bycroft said, quoting a report at a recent state meeting on the aid program.

Bycroft will meet with Mrs. Margaret Hickey, East Liverpool welfare director, to go over some of the applications of persons the group says should have received food, but who were refused.

Bycroft said some people still have a misconception of the distribution of surplus food. Some show up for food without being certified and sometimes without their cards after becoming eligible. No one will be given food without a card or without being certified because the cards have to tally with the amount of foods distributed or the director will be held responsible," he said.

166 Wellsville Cases Receive Surplus Food

At total of 166 families representing 469 persons received surplus food Wednesday at the Wellsville City Hall, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director in charge of the county program.

There were 164 certified covering 701 persons but only 116 families got dried eggs, milk, flour and rice.

700 Beaver Strikers Will Be Given Foods

About 700 Beaver County steelworkers on strike in the Midland area will receive surplus food next Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Midland Union Hall, Joe D'Alesio, Local 1212 president, said.

Rockefeller's Due Today For Son's Wedding

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller comes to Norway today for the wedding of his son Steven to Anne Marie Rasmussen and with his arrival the rosy atmosphere of romance turns even more political.

The New York governor was due late this afternoon with his two daughters, Mary and Ann Pierson. They left New York aboard a KLM airliner Thursday night.

Rockefeller, a potential candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year, probably will be confronted with more questions about politics in the United States than love in the fjords.

Steven himself said Thursday his father's position in the American political picture is the reason for the great attention his romance is receiving. Nearly 100 reporters and photographers from a dozen nations have swarmed into this little south Norway town to cover the wedding Saturday.

To many Norwegians the excitement doesn't stem from the fact that the 23-year-old bridgroom is an heir to one of the greatest fortunes in the world or that the 21-year-old bride was a maid in the Rockefeller home when she met Steven.

When Steven and Anne Marie announced their engagement Aug. 2, a Norwegian newspaper editorialized that "the people on the south coast of Norway will follow next year's nomination and presidential election in the United States with special interest."

A number of European newsmen here think the engagement furor, the disappearance of Steven and Annie Marie with her parents for a week of private travel, and all the fanfare attending the wedding were carefully planned to give the governor publicity as a presidential possibility.

Meanwhile, crowds gather daily in front of the Kristiansand hotel whenever another member of the Rockefeller family flies in.

Steven's mother, who arrived here Monday, has become a familiar figure. She took a tray and ate hamburgers in a local cafeteria Thursday. Later she went to a government liquor store, but clerks there said it was against the law to disclose what she bought.

Steven's two brothers, Michael and Rodman, and Rodman's wife, attracted another crowd when they arrived Thursday.

Thursday night the brothers and the other four ushers for the wedding — Jerry Rigg of Omaha, Neb., David Montgomery of Niagara Falls, N.Y., Harold Talbot of New York City and Robert Waldron of Rockford, Ill.—gave Steven the traditional bachelor's dinner at the local hotel.

3 Governors Become 'Cool' To Kennedy

DiSalle, Lawrence, Brown Might Hurt Presidential Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor leaders and Roman Catholic governors—who some might assume would be his best rooters — are proving troublesome to the presidential aspirations of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

The three governors are threatening to prevent Kennedy, also a Roman Catholic, from contesting for about 200 presidential nominating ballots he may need badly at next year's Los Angeles convention. These votes add up to nearly one-third of the 680-odd likely to be required to win the nomination.

The labor leaders, who loved him in April when he was fighting their battles against what they regarded as puntive labor control legislation, are cooling on him in August as the prospects increase for congressional approval of a strong labor bill.

The political blockade presented to Kennedy by the three Catholic governors, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, may not be entirely insurmountable, in the view of Kennedy's friends.

Much as he would like to test his popularity in California, Kennedy obviously isn't going to cross Brown in the latter's determination to become at least a favorite son — and possibly a national—candidate for the party's No. 1 nomination.

But the story may be different in the case of DiSalle and Lawrence. Unless his present intentions change, Kennedy is likely to challenge in the May 3 Ohio primary DiSalle's plan to control an uncommitted delegation as a favorite son.

It is no secret that Kennedy is miffed at what he regards as Lawrence's desire to hold a publicly uncommitted Pennsylvania delegation in reserve to support Adlai E. Stevenson if the latter's name comes up for the third time in the presidential nomination contest.

Heat To Mount With No Relief Forecast

Not only is there no relief in sight from the heat wave, but still higher marks were forecast for the East Liverpool area suffering from a week of torrid temperatures.

A high of 92 was recorded at Dam 8 Thursday afternoon and the mercury may climb to 94 today. This high mark was considered likely because the temperature was already 87 at noon.

It will continue hot and humid today, tonight and Saturday. As usual, a few scattered showers were forecast but there has been none this week.

The mercury climbed to 101 degrees at Pickstown, S. D., Thursday. The 90 mark at Buffalo, N. Y., was a record for the date while Pikeville, in eastern Kentucky, baked in a reading of 98.

Anti-Church Drive Stepped Up By Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Haiti's government has ordered the arrest of the nation's leading Roman Catholic prelate in a widening split with the church in this predominantly Catholic Negro republic.

The archbishop of Port Au Prince, Msgr. Francois Poirier, was ordered seized after he ignored a summons to appear at the district attorney's office.

There was no immediate indication whether the archbishop, a French national, had been found and taken into custory. Church sources declined to comment.

(A high Vatican source said Haitian government leaders who are Catholics might incur automatic excommunication from the church if Archbishop Poirier is arrested "without good reason.")

A justice department spokesman said the arrest was ordered because the archbishop had criticized the government for expelling two priests. One was the head of Haiti's largest Catholic college.

The two priests, the Rev. Etienne Grinenberger, rector of Saint Martial College and Superior of the Holy Ghost Fathers in Haiti, and the Rev. Joseph Marrec, both French citizens, arrived by plane in New York Thursday night. They said the government was apparently waging a concerted campaign against the Catholic church in Haiti.

Jo-Jo Gives Up When Master Calls Baboon

Jo-Jo, the baboon pet of Melvin Javens of Ohioville, who has been on the loose the last two weeks, was caught Thursday about noon, Bernard Zlatovich, Ohio Township police constable, reported.

He said a neighbor called Javens and said he saw the pet in the woods between Ohioville and Smiths Ferry. Javens called to Jo-Jo who then walked up to his master.

Hawaii Joins Nation Today As 50th State

Ike Will Proclaim Statehood In Ritual Set For White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hawaii, a group of volcanic and coral islands 2,400 miles west of San Francisco, officially joins the Union today as the nation's 50th state.

President Eisenhower arranged a 4 p.m. (EDT) ceremony at the White House to proclaim statehood for the territory after a 56-year effort by Hawaiian citizens, now numbering 585,000.

Besides signing the statehood proclamation today, the President issues an order designating a new 50-star flag to become officially effective next July 4.

The new banner will take the place of the 49-star flag which became official only last July 4.

AFL-CIO Hits At Scare Talk Of Inflation

FOREST PARK, Pa., (AP) — The AFL-CIO charged today that incessant scare talk about inflation has frightened the nation out of several years normal economic growth and curbed job opportunities.

A statement by the federation executive council said President Eisenhower's administration and big business have been trying to "brainwash the country" into falsely believing it was about to be engulfed with calamitous inflation.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said inflation is a problem but by far not the only or most important problem. The chief one, he said, is what he called the economy's failure to grow and provide jobs at a rate keyed to the rapidly growing population and labor force.

"This inflation thing is just being overemphasized," Meany said.

The AFL-CIO leaders wound up week-long meetings here Thursday and released their statement on inflation today.

It stated that industrial leaders are seeking to impose a freeze on wages and salaries, "piously proclaiming" this must be done to protect workers against inflation.

Actually, it said, there has been very little inflation for some time. In the past decade, the statement said, it has amounted to less than 2 per cent a year, or well under the historical annual increase.

Steel Walkout Deadlock Still 'Dragging On'

Top-Level Meeting Fails; More Talks Scheduled Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel strike deadlock dragged on today after a top-level conference among industry and union negotiators and Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Teams representing the union and the 12 largest steel companies continued their talks here today.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., and David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers of America, held a joint meeting with Finnegan Thursday.

The session was McDonald's first discussion with an industry official since Aug. 7. He has stayed away from the negotiations since that time on the ground that they were getting nowhere.

Finnegan said McDonald and Cooper may meet here again next Monday.

McDonald left here late Thursday for Pittsburgh where, a spokesman said, he had union business to transact.

Finnegan would not reveal to newsmen the trend of the Cooper-McDonald talk. But he said that Secretary of Labor James P. Mit-

2,700 Given Polio Shot During Midland Clinic

About 2,700 of 3,000 scheduled were given polio shots Thursday at the Midland Lincoln High School gymnasium, Steve Germusa, chairman of the Midland Area Polio Clinic committee, said.

Official results of the clinic will be known later and a meeting of the clinic committee may be called next week, Germusa said.

District Man Arrested As Check Suspect

A Wellsville man alleged to have cashed six fraudulent checks in area business places was nabbed Thursday shortly after cashing a seventh at a Salem bank.

Charles Robert Eckler, 39, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was arrested by Salem city police shortly after cashing a "rubber" check in the First National Bank.

Wellsville police said the 6 checks cashed at 3 places in Wellsville, 2 in East Liverpool and one in Lisbon were all issued for $15 each.

The Quality Feed Store, and the Thrifty Meat Market, both in Wellsville; Tice's Restaurant in East Liverpool, the Chat and Chew Inn on Route 7, and the Town and Talk Restaurant in Lisbon were victimized.

Eckler was nabbed by police after leaving the bank in Salem. Because he returned the funds, the bank refused to file charges against him, according to Salem authorities.

Eckler is awaiting a hearing before Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville on a charge of issuing fraudulent checks. Columbiana County sheriff's deputies and Salem police were notified of Eckler's description by Wellsville police.

For Visit To Coal Mines

West Virginia's Governor Invites Red Chief To State

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Underwood invited Nikita Khrushchev Thursday to visit West Virginia coal mines when the Soviet premier visits the United States next month.

Underwood also told a new conference that:

1. He has not yet decided whether he will be an active candidate for political office next year.

2. Whether he endorses any Republic gubernatorial candidate in the 1960 primary will depend largely on his own decision.

Underwood announced the appointment of C. E. Linkous of Holden in Logan County, safety director of Island Creek Coal Co., as one of two industry representatives on the five-member Mine Inspectors Examining Board for the unexpired portion of a term ending June 30, 1966.

Linkious succeeds H. E. Mauck, affiliated with Olga Coal Co. at Coalwood in McDowell County, who has resigned as of the end of August because he is leaving the state for a new position in Chicago.

Underwood said his invitation to Khrushchev, to be channeled through the Russian Embassy and White House and State Department offices, was extended after sever-

Top-Level Meeting Fails; More Talks Scheduled Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel strike deadlock dragged on today after a top-level conference among industry and union negotiators and Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Teams representing the union and the 12 largest steel companies continued their talks here today.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., and David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers of America, held a joint meeting with Finnegan Thursday.

The session was McDonald's first discussion with an industry official since Aug. 7. He has stayed away from the negotiations since that time on the ground that they were getting nowhere.

Finnegan said McDonald and Cooper may meet here again next Monday.

McDonald left here late Thursday for Pittsburgh where, a spokesman said, he had union business to transact.

Finnegan would not reveal to newsmen the trend of the Cooper-McDonald talk. But he said that Secretary of Labor James P. Mit-

District Man Arrested As Check Suspect

A Wellsville man alleged to have cashed six fraudulent checks in area business places was nabbed Thursday shortly after cashing a seventh at a Salem bank.

Charles Robert Eckler, 39, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was arrested by Salem city police shortly after cashing a "rubber" check in the First National Bank.

Wellsville police said the 6 checks cashed at 3 places in Wellsville, 2 in East Liverpool and one in Lisbon were all issued for $15 each.

The Quality Feed Store, and the Thrifty Meat Market, both in Wellsville; Tice's Restaurant in East Liverpool, the Chat and Chew Inn on Route 7, and the Town and Talk Restaurant in Lisbon were victimized.

Eckler was nabbed by police after leaving the bank in Salem. Because he returned the funds, the bank refused to file charges against him, according to Salem authorities.

Eckler is awaiting a hearing before Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville on a charge of issuing fraudulent checks. Columbiana County sheriff's deputies and Salem police were notified of Eckler's description by Wellsville police.

West Virginia's Governor Invites Red Chief To State

CHARLESTON (AP — Gov. Underwood invited Nikita Khrushchev Thursday to visit West Virginia coal mines when the Soviet premier visits the United States next month.

Underwood also told a new conference that:

1. He has not yet decided whether he will be an active candidate for political office next year.

2. Whether he endorses any Republic gubernatorial candidate in the 1960 primary will depend largely on his own decision.

Underwood announced the appointment of C. E. Linkous of Holden in Logan County, safety director of Island Creek Coal Co., as one of two industry representatives on the five-member Mine Inspectors Examining Board for the unexpired portion of a term ending June 30, 1966.

Linkious succeeds H. E. Mauck, affiliated with Olga Coal Co. at Coalwood in McDowell County, who has resigned as of the end of August because he is leaving the state for a new position in Chicago.

Underwood said his invitation to Khrushchev, to be channeled through the Russian Embassy and White House and State Department offices, was extended after sever-

Fate Controls Fall Of Plaster Chunk On City Hall Desk

A heavy chunk of plaster fell from a City Hall ceiling squarely across the desk of Mrs. Martha Plotts, secretary to Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross, but fortunately, fate timed the accident Thursday night or early today while the office was vacant.

The section of fallen plaster weighed at least 100 pounds. It was over 10 feet long and about 2 feet wide and an inch thick. The plaster covered the lower side of a heavy beam that projects below the level of the ceiling in the reception room of the mayor and director.

A big chunk of the plaster fell directly across Mrs. Plotts' desk and another hit the floor only a foot or two from the spot where her chair ordinarily is located.

Officials said the plaster might have been loosened from its bond by thermal shock resulting from cooling this morning after yesterday's high temperatures.

"You'll have claustrophobia in the future when you sit under that section of ceiling," a bystander told Mrs. Plotts.

"It will be more like plasterphobia," the director commented.

City Hall has had frequent plaster falls over the years, but never before did such a heavy section tumble into a working area.

Strike Continues At Midland Plant

The strike is still on for employes of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. of Midland, who are members of Steelworkers Local 1269, following contract negotiations Thursday in Pittsburgh, Alex Bowie, union staff representative, said.

He said company officials from Canton refused the requests of the union for a co-operative wage system and paid insurance similiar to that of Canton and Salem plants though the union dropped a request for a master contract for all four plants. The company has a Pittsburgh plant.

Bowie said the company asked the union to sign a contract without a retroactive of July 1, which the union team rejected.

No further talks have been set and the union is waiting word from John S. Johns, union District 27, director, in charge of negotiations for locals with the Bliss Co., Bowie said.

Firemen Called When Rig Develops Blaze

About 15 Chester volunteer firemen were called when fire occurred near the gas tank of a tractor-trailer rig about 7:43 a. m. today at Carolina Ave. and 6th St.

The fire was extinguished by Lew Cavalaro, employe of a nearby service station with a bucket of soda before firemen arrived. The truck, leased by the T.K. Roofing Co. of Chester, and driven by Clinton Wilson of Hookstown,, received only minor damage.

Wilson noticed smoke in the cab when he stopped for the traffic light at Carolina Ave. and 6th St. Firemen believe a bare wire may have ignited gasoline spilled in the vicinity of the tank.

Loyd O. Fox went home from the East Liverpool Navy Recruiting Office Thursday as a chief machinery repairman and came to work this morning as a warrant officer.

The promotion entailed an overnight change from enlisted man's summer whites to an officer's khaki.

Group Airs Plans For Beaver Picnic

Final plans for a "victory" picnic Saturday at the Mayhew Farm near Shippingport were completed at a committee meeting of the South Beaver County Civic Association Thursday night at the home of Carl Lutton of Raccoon Township.

Direction signs will be erected in Aliquippa and Monaca to guide guests to the picnic area, which is a quarter mile from Kennedy Corners — the junction of the Green Garden Rd. and Shippingport Rd.

Swimming and games will begin at 2 p. m. County officials and all candidates for the November election will be guests.

The picnic will mark the group's recent successful drive to urge early construction of a bridge across the Ohio River at Shippingport.

Conferees Near Final Accord On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees have reached almost final agreement on the first six sections of the controversial labor bill. The seventh and last section, where most of the hot dispute is centered, comes up today.

The conferees are trying to reconcile the different labor bills passed by the Senate and House.

The seventh section contains changes in the Taft-Hartley law.

100 Feared Drowned

MANILA (AP) — A Philippine interisland motorship sank in stormy waters off the northern coast of Palawan Island, and first reports today indicated more than 100 might have perished. The Pilar II was described as a 240-ton ship with space for 83 passengers and 29 crew.

Khrushchev

al conferences with leaders of the state's coal industry.

The governor noted that Khrushchev spent a portion of his early life as a miner in the Ukraine and thus has a first-hand knowledge of coal.

Because West Virginia is the largest producer of bituminous coal, Underwood said, it seems the logical place for Khrushchev to visit if he tours any American coal area.

"We would be able to show him the progress made in the processing of coal," Underwood — who recently visited Russia with several other governors — explained. He added:

"I think our coal industry would be an important means by which we could convince Khrushchev of the industrial strength and potential of our country."

The governor said it was his current guess that there will be many contests for Republican nominations in the 1960 primary. He said he already could see a "great deal of interest" in all of the state races and he interpreted it as an indication of party vigor in the GOP ranks.

The governor said he had not yet given any encouragement to any member of his party who might be a candidate for governor. He also said he had not even discussed his personal views with any aspirant.

Personally, Underwood said, he has no timetable as to any decision regarding what he will do next year. That answer came to a question as to when he would make his intentions known, should he decide to run for office — presumably the U. S. Senate.

Fate Controls Fall Of Plaster Chunk On City Hall Desk

A heavy chunk of plaster fell from a City Hall ceiling squarely across the desk of Mrs. Martha Plotts, secretary to Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross, but fortunately, fate timed the accident Thursday night or early today while the office was vacant.

The section of fallen plaster weighed at least 100 pounds. It was over 10 feet long and about 2 feet wide and an inch thick. The plaster covered the lower side of a heavy beam that projects below the level of the ceiling in the reception room of the mayor and director.

A big chunk of the plaster fell directly across Mrs. Plotts' desk and another hit the floor only a foot or two from the spot where her chair ordinarily is located.

Officials said the plaster might have been loosened from its bond by thermal shock resulting from cooling this morning after yesterday's high temperatures.

"You'll have claustrophobia in the future when you sit under that section of ceiling," a bystander told Mrs. Plotts.

"It will be more like plasterphobia," the director commented.

City Hall has had frequent plaster falls over the years, but never before did such a heavy section tumble into a working area.

Strike Continues At Midland Plant

The strike is still on for employes of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. of Midland, who are members of Steelworkers Local 1269, following contract negotiations Thursday in Pittsburgh, Alex Bowie, union staff representative, said.

He said company officials from Canton refused the requests of the union for a co-operative wage system and paid insurance similiar to that of Canton and Salem plants though the union dropped a request for a master contract for all four plants. The company has a Pittsburgh plant.

Bowie said the company asked the union to sign a contract without a retroactive of July 1, which the union team rejected.

No further talks have been set and the union is waiting word from John S. Johns, union District 27, director, in charge of negotiations for locals with the Bliss Co., Bowie said.

Firemen Called When Rig Develops Blaze

About 15 Chester volunteer firemen were called when fire occurred near the gas tank of a tractor-trailer rig about 7:43 a. m. today at Carolina Ave. and 6th St.

The fire was extinguished by Lew Cavalaro, employe of a nearby service station with a bucket of soda before firemen arrived. The truck, leased by the T.K. Roofing Co. of Chester, and driven by Clinton Wilson of Hookstown,, received only minor damage.

Wilson noticed smoke in the cab when he stopped for the traffic light at Carolina Ave. and 6th St. Firemen believe a bare wire may have ignited gasoline spilled in the vicinity of the tank.

Dam Repairs Hold Up Ohio River Traffic

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Traffic on Ohio River was halted Thursday on a 20-mile stretch because of a repair project on the usually busy Dam 29 at Ashland, Ky.

The pool between Dam 28 and 29 was lowered about 8 feet, making safe navigation impossible. Army Engineers expected to complete the repair project in about 36 hours.

Welcome, Stranger

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP) — Highway officials were startled to see that one of their railroad crossing signs had been painted white and inscribed with the name of a nearby resident and an arrow pointing the way to his house. Said one of the officials: "This is carrying free enterprise too far."

4-H News

Members of the Hookstown Cooking Club, the Hookstown Agricultural Club and the Greene Township Sewing Club, all 4-H Clubs, conducted vesper services Sunday evening at the Mill Creek Presbyterian Church.

Representing the agricultural club, John Searight was in charge of the call to worship and Evelyn Soisson announced songs for congregational singing.

Marilyn Soisson read the Scripture lesson and Connie Hughes offered the evening prayer. Both are sewing club members. Sally Graham led the responsive reading and Lois Swearingen the invocation. Both represented the cooking club.

Evelyn Soisson and Bess Neville, both of Beaver Falls, were guests from the Chippewa 4-H Club and sang, "This Is My Father's World." The Rev. James Smith gave the benediction.

Several Georgetown area 4-H Club members attended a dinner given Monday by the Countywide 4-H Club girls for club leaders of Beaver County at Center Grange Hall.

Attending were Mary Lee Hobbs, Joyce Hobbs, Marilyn Soisson and Kathryn Dhayer. Mrs. Louis Biscup was in charge.

Portland U. To Start Family Tuition Plan

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A family plan that could mean free tuition for some will be started at the University of Portland this fall.

The Rev. Howard Kenna, president of the university, explained the plan this way:

If several members of one family attend the university at the same time, one would pay full tuition, the second two-thirds, and the third student only one-third. Additional members of the family would get free tuition.

Tuition at the university is $660 a year.

Naval Recruiter Given Warrant Officer Rate

Loyd O. Fox went home from the East Liverpool Navy Recruiting Office Thursday as a chief machinery repairman and came to work this morning as a warrant officer.

The promotion entailed an overnight change from enlisted man's summer whites to an officer's khaki.

The appointment as warrant officer came as a result of an examination he took in July 1958 while on a three-year tour aboard a repair ship in Japan. His future duty will be as a warrant machinist.

WO Fox and his family reside at 1106 Smithfield St. A native of Ashland, Kas., he has served 8½ years in the Navy. He has been stationed here two months.

Planning Opened For Science Fair

The schedule has been announced and preparations launched for the second annual Tri-State Science Fair.

Public announcement of the awards to be made is scheduled for Sept. 15. The awards goals set up included $331.25 for the basic awards for 5 divisions; $57.50 additional for junior high students; $150 for outstanding awards in divisions, and $100 for the most outstanding exhibit in the show.

A teachers planning session will be held Sept. 22. The Student Science Council will meet Oct. 20 to review and plan for the event. The deadline for filing applications to enter is Feb. 15, Miss Jones said.

Radio discussions by students on science are slated for Nov. 24, Jan. 12, 1960, Feb. 9, March 15, 22, and 29.

Group Airs Plans For Beaver Picnic

Final plans for a "victory" picnic Saturday at the Mayhew Farm near Shippingport were completed at a committee meeting of the South Beaver County Civic Association Thursday night at the home of Carl Lutton of Raccoon Township.

Direction signs will be erected in Aliquippa and Monaca to guide guests to the picnic area, which is a quarter mile from Kennedy Corners — the junction of the Green Garden Rd. and Shippingport Rd.

Swimming and games will begin at 2 p. m. County officials and all candidates for the November election will be guests.

The picnic will mark the group's recent successful drive to urge early construction of a bridge across the Ohio River at Shippingport.

Conferees Near Final Accord On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees have reached almost final agreement on the first six sections of the controversial labor bill. The seventh and last section, where most of the hot dispute is centered, comes up today.

The conferees are trying to reconcile the different labor bills passed by the Senate and House.

100 Feared Drowned

MANILA (AP) — A Philippine interisland motorship sank in stormy waters off the northern coast of Palawan Island, and first reports today indicated more than 100 might have perished. The Pilar II was described as a 240-ton ship with space for 83 passengers and 29 crew.

Khrushchev

al conferences with leaders of the state's coal industry.

The governor noted that Khrushchev spent a portion of his early life as a miner in the Ukraine and thus has a first-hand knowledge of coal.

Because West Virginia is the largest producer of bituminous coal, Underwood said, it seems the logical place for Khrushchev to visit if he tours any American coal area.

"We would be able to show him the progress made in the processing of coal," Underwood — who recently visited Russia with several other governors — explained. He added:

"I think our coal industry would be an important means by which we could convince Khrushchev of the industrial strength and potential of our country."

The governor said it was his current guess that there will be many contests for Republican nominations in the 1960 primary. He said he already could see a "great deal of interest" in all of the state races and he interpreted it as an indication of party vigor in the GOP ranks.

The governor said he had not yet given any encouragement to any member of his party who might be a candidate for governor. He also said he had not even discussed his personal views with any aspirant.

Personally, Underwood said, he has no timetable as to any decision regarding what he will do next year. That answer came to a question as to when he would make his intentions known, should he decide to run for office — presumably the U. S. Senate.

Ike Plays Some Golf

GETTYSBURG, PA. (AP) — President Eisenhower got in some early morning golf today in advance of a trip to Washington to proclaim Hawaii the 50th state and unfurl the new 50-star flag. The President, accompanied by George E. Allen, a frequent golf companion, started around the Gettysburg Country Club at 7:40 a. m.

Someone Meddled With The Script

Thanks to the White House and the secretary of labor, everybody now knows what everybody could have found out about the steel industry.

All the facts have been brought together in one place. But the most singular "fact" of all is that this does not change the situation in the steel strike one whit.

The spokesmen for the striking union and for the adamant companies will continue to pick and choose among the facts to suit themselves, as they have been doing.

There is nothing to prove with facts in a situation like this.

The United States does not have a managed economy. There are no inexorable rules, other than the rule that companies which do not show enough profit to justify their existence eventually go down the economic drain.

No one has the right to say how much or how little profit they can make, unless they are unfortunate enough to be in the stranglehold of government. That is where some people want the steel industry to be, along with the railroads that are growing limp from the lack of profit. Fortunately, the steel industry is still full of fight.

If it has any real trouble, as opposed to the kind of imaginary trouble that causes creeping socialists to scream that things aren't being done right, it's this:

SOMEONE MEDDLED with the script that portrayed the mechanization and the ultimate automation of basic industry as a blessing to be shared by all the people.

Prices were to keep going down as productivity of both capital and labor went up.

Whenever capital put money into a new machine to make labor more productive and whenever labor stepped up its own efficiency, the extramargin of wealth thus created was to split up equitably among the people who put up the money, the people who put out the labor and the people who constituted the market.

Consumers were going to be stimulated to buy more and more by the increasing buying power of ever-more-valuable dollars. Workers were going to be given more purchasing power by the earned increment of their own wages. And savers were going to be given more incentive to save and invest by the promise of juicier returns on their savings.

At that point, though, the script was changed.

CONSUMERS were written out of it. Workers began to claim an ever-greater share of earnings. Savers, fearful of being pushed to the wall, began to clamor for a better break. Prices began to go up in a tail-chasing contest between unions and investors. Consumers were pushed to the sidelines. Prices went up and up and up — never down.

The consumers' role now is to be a sort of sounding board for the conflicting claims of the tail-chasers in the new game of seeing how much the market will bear. Consumers are the victims of the game, but they also are supposed to be the referee.

It's not easy to stay calm, cool and impartial under the circumstances. It would be a whole lot easier if just once the other two parties in the three-way deal would say to consumers, "It's your turn to get a break this time, suckers. We're going to give you the benefit of productivity, instead of grabbing all of it — plus a little extra — for ourselves."

One Thing Benson Cannot Say

A report copyrighted by The New York Times says President Eisenhower will put Congress on the spot next session with a call for a showdown on the wheat subsidy.

The President will be relaying the strong views of Agriculture Secretary Benson if he does this. But there is one thing Benson cannot say — one thing Mr. Eisenhower is not likely to say, either. Yet it very much needs saying.

The wheat subsidy has become the most flagrant example of treasury pillaging in U.S. history. Other schemes to rob public funds have been as bold, but no other scheme ever has been so ambitious and long-lasting.

About 6 per cent of U.S. farmers have a stake in the pillaging. But the stake of some of them runs into six figures; they are large operators. Though they are operating inside the letter of the law, it is no secret in Congress or back home in the wheat states that some of them are in business only to clean up on the wheat subsidy.

They exert heavy influence in politics. They are heavy contributors to campaign funds. They know how to play farm-bloc politics the way Van Cliburn knows how to play a piano. Every time Benson complains about them, they plaster him with political filth. They make sure he is booed the next time he speaks in the farm belt.

Benson, being in politics, himself, cannot fight back. The Republican party is in trouble in the farm states, because Harry Truman proved beyond any doubt in his give-'em-hell campaign in 1948 that votes in those states could be bought with subsidy money. If Benson were to say that in so many words, the GOP elephant would be shot on sight. Getting millions and billions of public money for growing a commodity already in surplus supply is a way of life supported by both wheat farmers and politicians. They refuse to be uprooted.

If President Eisenhower decided to call a spade a spade and the wheat subsidy a dirty deal in the speech he intends to make next year, he might save no money but he would make a lot of his fellow citizens feel better about a national disgrace.

A Day Etched In Infamy

There were enough betrayals in World War II to stoke a cynic's hot resentment for two lifetimes. But the day the cynics will concede should be etched in infamy more deeply than any other was Aug. 23, 1939, when it was announced in Berlin that Germany and Russia had agreed on a non-aggression pact.

Thus did the psychopathic author of "Mein Kampf," which explained why Germany must put down the threat of communism, come to a meeting of minds with Joseph Stalin, who had been making a career of ridding the ideological forest of "Fascist beasts."

It was the climactic sellout of the party-line people who had been following Stalin in and out and around and about at his whim. Liberals and parlor prinks who had been flirting with the Communist conspiracy gagged and drew back. The bitter-enders who stayed with the party did so with the final grim recognition that Moscow was calling the turn; that they were being used like pawns in a balance-of-power contest between politicians.

The Russian about-face, historians believe, was due to Poland's refusal to admit Russian troops in case of war. But Russia could have declared its neutrality, thus preserving its own freedom of action without opening the Polish border to the Nazi horde.

On Sept. 1, Hitler gave the order to march and Germany invaded Poland. England and France honored their commitments to Poland and World War II was well begun. On June 22, 1941, Germany marched against Russia. Foreign Commissar Molotiv muttered, "We had not deserved this." But no one agreed.

Perhaps Nikita Khrushchev, himself, did not agree. In any event, Molotov now lives out his days in exile while Khrushchev uses the hanging-fire issue of a German peace settlement to assert his power in the post-war world.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Norway and Anne Marie Rasmussen may do more for Rockefeller as presidential candidate than Russia and peace dove did for Nixon. Pictorially no pictures, from the Khrushchev-Nixon interlude can move the human heart like photographs of a bride, a groom and forgiving parents.

Rocky, as a surprised but far from stern and frosty father, may impress voters and bring revival of "Love is Sweeping the Country" as a campaign factor just as it was in a famous musical.

Steve, Anne Marie and Ma and Pa Rockefeller are better symbols of peace than trade fairs, electric kitchens, summit sessions, debates and tape recordings.

TO HAVE ROMEO AND JULIET in your corner can be an advantage in the march to the White House. You can get even money that the picture of Dick Nixon as a capable and valiant leader holding Khrushchev to at least a draw in the Soviet Union can't warm up America more than Rocky conceding an easy victory to Cupid in Norway.

Nixon shook hands with Russian toilers, kissed babies and was fast in rebuttals.

Rocky gave a "Hello" out there" to lovers everywhere and kissed Anne Marie Rasmussen, as cute a chick as war, peace or neutrality has unveiled anywhere in years.

Nixon will have to offset the impression that a swap of church organists, engagement ring salesmen, wedding caterers and boy-meets-girl programs aren't the hope of the world and that the words, "I do," are not more popular, after all, than "I don't."

Dick went all out in speeches to bring about better understandings and restore human happiness but Rocky came through with four wonderful words "Bless you, my children." He looks formidable.

MORTIMER TOPBLOWER reports a great thrill during the recent blackout of New York due to power failure. In a restaurant when lights went out the chef working in the dark put five instead of four shrimp in his shrimp cocktail. The most dejected housewife was a woman who, at the moment of the blackout, was trying to thread a needle and mend socks of her husband who, caught while using electric shaver, cried, "Help! I must have cut my optic nerve." The woman of the year was the gal who, to loud demand of "Do you remember where you put those candles?" cried firmly, "YES."

Some 1960 car models are out for press review and show quite a change in fins and front and rear grilles. This brings loud groan from the fellow who just got delivery of 1959 model so he could look distinctive.

Behind killers such as the one who murdered three people in a few nights on Long Island stand institutions, judges and parole boards who too often keep in circulation characters who are potential slayers. Some institutions to which they are sent do not even have walls or locked doors to prevent them leaving when in the mood.

Soviets have again brushed off a suit by Sherlock Holmes interests to stop them from stealing writers works without payment of royalties. Sherlock could only say, "My dear Watson we are on a wild goose chase. Let us not even waste the money to hail a handom-cab."

Lame Duck?

Meany Would Close Door To Khrushchev

By Victor Riesel

UNITY HOUSE, Pa.

Nikita Khruschev, blithe spirit, is determined to break bread with American labor leaders as though he had not broken the heads and spirits of free working people inside the Bolshoi borders. For weeks now he has been pressuring the AFL-CIO high command to invite him to lunch. Assured of a gay capitalist reception in our country, the Premier of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics wants to be able to tell his folks back in the workers' paradise that U.S. labor was just as enthusiastic about his visit.

Victor Riesel

Last Friday evening a long distance telephone operator put a call through from Washington to this mountain top holiday inn of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. American labor's top council is meeting here in its mid-summer session.

The call was for ebullient James Carey, a member of the AFL-CIO executive committee.

THE CALLER was Soviet Russia's own laughing boy, Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. For some time now Mr. Ambassador has been asking Carey to arrange a luncheon between Premier Khrushchev and the U.S. labor chiefs.

For some time Mr. Cary has been for such a gathering. For some time now AFL-CIO leader George Meany and most of the high council have been opposed to talking even to Comrade Menshikov.

The Soviet diplomat has been most insistent. He even suggested the afternoon of Sept. 17 as a tentative date. Last Friday night Menshikov asked Carey if he had set it up. Carey said, "Not yet."

Menshikov asked if Carey would deliver a message to George Meany. Time was short now. Carey said he would. Shortly after hanging up, Carey found the U.S. labor chief. He reported that the ambassador had asked him to deliver a message in behalf of the Soviet leader. Carey waited. Meany looked at him, "All right. You've delivered the message."

This may not end it. Carey and Menshikov arranged a luncheon for Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan in the national headquarters of Carey's International Union of Electrical Workers, back on Jan. 6, 1959. Meeting at one o'clock that day with the deputy to Khruschev were such other high labor leaders as Walter Reuther, Joe Bierne, William Doherty and Karl Feller. It was their opinion that they could outwit and outmaneuver Mikoyan and tell him that free labor was opposed to the Soviets.

GEORGE MEANY refused to attend. His position then—and now—is that any association with the Russian rulers will be exploited by the Kremlin as a welcome by free labor to the Soviet dictators.

Furthermore, Meany and many of his colleagues don't want to give the bouncing Khruschev the opening for hopping in on the national AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco. This begins on Sept. 17.

Khrushchev expects to be in the Bay Area on or about Sept. 20. If the Soviet Premier asks his State Department hosts to get him into the convention, it would be difficult for the American labor leadership to refuse. If he did get a chance to address the parley, the talk would be exploited behind the Bolshoi and Bamboo Curtains for months as a friendly American workers' welcome.

This is the last thing Meany wants. He is opposed to any cultural or people-to-people exchanges with Russia on the grounds that it is still a slave state. Recently, for example, the AFL-CIO Department of International Affairs printed a study called "Forced Labor in the U.S.S.R. Today."

This appeared in the "Free Trade Union News." The document reveals that the Kremlin never did effectively change its aws on the arrest of political opponents or their use as literal slave laborers.

The Soviets, according to the AFL-CIO study, merely modernized their old camps and built a series of new ones in order to get more efficient work out of its slave prisoners.

RUSSIA NEEDS this efficiency because it has run out of available males. According to last January's census, Soviet women exceed men by 20 million. A recent count discloses that on the collective farms there are only three adult men to every 10 women. For the first time in human history, the rural birth rate is lower than in the city.

In the vast Siberian complex of concentration camps there are eight men to one woman. The Soviets simply had to ease up their arrests. This does not mean, however that Russia is any the less a slave state than it has been.

That's why most of the AFL-CIO executive council now meeting here will refuse to shake the hand of the master of such a nation.

Cause For Concern

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

American leadership is showing a growing concern about the ability of this country — at the rate and in the way we are going — to keep up with Soviet progress.

Time was when Soviet claims to achievement were taken with a grain of salt in the United States.

That attitude began to change when the Soviets showed how far advanced they were, industrially and scientifically, first by making the atom bomb, then the hydrogen bomb, and then beating us into outer space with their Sputniks in 1957.

Earlier in the week this writer reported President Eisenhower:

1. Is concerned about the driving urge to get ahead which the Soviets seven-year plan is giving them.

2. Thinks this country needs an incentive toward harder work—something similar to the seven-year plan—which he believes is providing the Soviet people with the moral equivalent of war.

3. Feels Americans must be induced to work harder, think more of achievement, less of leisure and money.

Now comes the Draper committee—a 10-man group headed by the investment banker, William H. Draper Jr.—which sounds like a direct echo of the President.

Eisenhower created this committee to study the United States program of military assistance to other countries. Its report, made public Thursday, urged even bigger aid and went much beyond talking in terms of weapons alone.

The 10-man group sought to look at the Soviet challenge from many angles—its progress, its productive expansion, its goals, and its tactics—plus the need it creates for American efforts to match Soviet efforts.

The committee, noting the Soviets are maintaining a higher rate of growth than the United States in industrial production and in their technology and technical education, said:

"Their objective of equaling and exceeding the United States in selected areas of their own choosing has provided an unusual psychological stimulation to their people which we must more than match by dedication to our own cause.

"These trends in the Communist world cannot be ignored. They suggest the need for real concern about our present and prospective rates of progress which will determine our future ability to compete with communist states.

All this requires a positive individual and national dedication, more emphasis on hard constructive work and thought, less rather than more emphasis on leisure, more rather than less application to our tasks."

The similarity between Eisenhower's thinking and the committee's statement may have been the result of the President's having seen the Draper report before it was made public.

But he was concerned about this problem of competition and incentives many months ago. He announced in his State of the Union message last January he would create a committee to study and then propose national goals.

The Soviets' seven-year plan is in their case a national goal. Eisenhower is ready to name his committee as soon as he can find enough private organizations to finance its work. He doesn't want the government to foot the bill.

But neither Eisenhower nor the Draper committee has come up with an answer to the question they raise:

How can Americans—people in a free society — be induced to work harder and think less of leisure and money in order to compete with the Soviet people living under a dictatorship which can direct, control and compel them?

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The annual reunion of the Burbick family was held at the home of George Burbick, 3 miles north of Lisbon. Clark Burbick of Leetonia was named president.

A record enrollment of 450 freshmen was announced by B. G. Ludwig, high school principal.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Three East Liverpool girls were among the thousands of American nationals who prepared to rush home as war clouds grew darker over Europe.

Edward Anson won the 50-yard dash during swimming competition and also captured the badminton crown at the YMCA Pine Ridge Camp.

TEN YEARS AGO — Employes of the Frank Crook Furniture Co. held a corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Skelton on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

Harvey Egan of Islip, N. Y., a former music instructor in the Chester schools, visited relatives in Chester.

U.S. Double-Crossed

By David Lawrence

Laos Situation Indicates Shady Dealings

Evidence is accumulating that Nikita Khrushchev was double-crossing President Eisenhower all the time that the chief executive was discussing with him, through diplomatic channels, the possibility of inviting the Soviet Premier to visit the United States as a means of relieving international tensions. The critical situation that has arisen in Laos is the direct result of the Soviet government's decision during the last few weeks to intensify the "cold war" in the southeast Asian peninsula.

David Lawrence

Also the Chinese Communists, who act only after collaboration between Peiping and Moscow, have begun an invasion of Ladak — one of the states which is an integral part of the territory of India. It is on the border of Tibet.

This is an odd way to try to "relieve tensions." In fact, there is every indication that, so far as the Moscow government is concerned, there has been a stepping up of the tempo of the "cold war" in Asia. Thus, the Red Chinese are making hostile moves in the direction of Nepal — an independent republic—which lies on the border between India and Tibert. Latest maps from Peiping not only show Nepal as a part of Red China but they include within Communist jurisdiction the northern state of Ladak in India itself.

THIS BRAZEN AGGRESSION has attracted the attention of free governments throughout the world but not that of the free peoples, so many of whom are busily engaged now in discussions of how Nikita Khrushchev should be entertained on his visit to the United States.

The Soviet government, of course, has been sending out propaganda denying its maneuvers in Laos and other areas. Indeed, the Moscor Foreign Office makes the amazing claim now that the United States has violated the neutrality of Laos by setting up military bases there. Yet officials of the Soviet Union are well aware that the United States has no bases or any organized military missions in that country.

The fighting in the little Buddhist kingdom of Laos has been carried on by an estimated 2,000 Red guerrillas who are attacking government outposts points. The invading forces come across the border from Communist North Vietnam and are regularly supplied from there and from Red China. Significantly the Moscow official organ, "Izvestia," has served notice that hostilities "are apt to grow into protracted bloodletting and they may spread beyond Laos, engulfing a whole line of Southeast Asia countries."

All this started happening just after Nikita Khrushchev conducted personal conversations recently with Ho Chi Minh, the Communist premier of North Vietnam.

Both the Laotian provinces which now have been invaded from North Vietnam were held by the Communist forces before the 1954 truce conference at Geneva, which this writer covered at the time. It was not until three years later that the Communists actually turned over the control of the disputed provinces. Now it looks as if the Reds want to taken them back.

MANY PEOPLE may have forgotten the 1954 conference that ended the bloody war in Indochina, in which the French made such big sacrifices to defend their protectorate. They finally agreed to release their former colonies from any jurisdiction by the French government. Solemn agreements were entered into then by the Communists, which now have been broken. The resumption of the war in Indochina is on a par with the repeated violations of the Korean armistice by the Communists.

Laos is striving to get the United Nations to take some action or at least to make a thorough investigation of the fighting.

State Department officials are embarrassed. They hesitate to come out in the open and accuse Khrushchev of bad faith, because everything is supposed to be sweetness and light these days in relation to the Soviet Union since the Soviet Premier is coming here as an official guest. No such compunction seems to affect the soviet premier, who, as the man in governmental authority, has issued the instructions to stir up war in the provinces of Laos and northern India.

The tiny government of Laos has been making excellent progress toward setting up a democracy. Free elections are scheduled to be held. A new premier had forced Communists out of the Cabinet. The economy had begun to improve as American advice and financial aid were given. Consequently, the government was gaining new followers as trained Army teams provided health and sanitation facilities, rural schools and new roads.

THESE MEASURES were bringing about a stable situation in Laos. The policy was to be one of official "neutrality" as between the East and the West but it has been obvious that the people of Laos have been leaning toward the West. This, of course, is what irks Khrushchev, who now has given orders to aggravate the situation so it will involve the spending of more money by the Laotian government to protect itself.

The new war is designed, of course, to bring the Communists back into the Cabinet preparatory to taking over of the country from within by the Reds.

All this is happening at a time when many Americans aren't reading much about Laos but are worrying about how to show Khrushchev a good time in the United States. Sooner or later the free governments of the world must express themselves against such aggression, either through the United Nations or individually. This is a deliberate enlargement of the "cold war."

Avoid The Rush

By Truman Twill

I have been surprised to learn that many people still think there is a shortage of places in freshman classes for young men and women who want a college education. Even if all state universities barred hopeless incompetents, there still would be no shortage of places.

Dozens and hundreds of perfectly good schools in this country, some of them close by, are begging for students. Many will discover after the opening hurly-burly that they did not enroll enough students to fill their dormitories and classrooms to rated capacity.

Their registrars cringe every time they hear the refrain that colleges and universities are bursting with applications and that there won't be enough places to hold them so get your applications in early, folks, and avoid the rush. After each new prodding, more applications pour into the famous schools whose reputations are worldwide. But nothing happens to the less well known schools whose reputations are less than worldwide.

A statistic from one of the famous ones shows the problem. Before World War II, this school had 850 applications and admitted 706 students. Last year this same school had 4,600 inquiries, 3,300 completed applications and finally enrolled a freshman class of 757.

Moreover, as a part of the nonsense going on, it admitted a total of 1,288 students in order to get the 757. Thousands of students now make multiple applications, in case they cannot get into their first-choice school and must settle for second choice.

While this is going on, perfectly good schools that may be better equipped to give applicants a good education than the schools they apply to are starting each academic year with embarrassing shortages of students.

It is the same psychology that causes customers to be breaking down the doors of restaurants that are hard to get into while some equally good restaurant around the block is trying to hide empty tables.

Naturally, colleges that want more students are reluctant to cry about their plight in public. All of them would like to be the beneficiaries of bandwagon psychology, but the cruel fact is that the bandwagon never came down their street.

They would like to think all they need to do is wait and eventually they will have a chance to pick and choose among the cream of the crop, but that isn't working out, either.

The evidence indicates that many applicants who cannot break through the log jam in the well publicized schools will not take the trouble to make application elsewhere. If they cannot get their higher education at a place with a famous name, they will pass up education.

This amounts to admitting it was not education per se they were interested in but the reputation of having been educated in a particular place.

It makes me more certain than ever that Americans need a rating system for educatees — an index of educational accomplishment that can be recognized on sight. With such a thing in existence, it wouldn't matter whether the index rating had been made in Electoral College of Abnormal U. The main thing would be the education, which is still obtainable, by the way, in the closest public library — for nothing.

Someone Meddled With The Script

Thanks to the White House and the secretary of labor, everybody now knows what everybody could have found out about the steel industry.

All the facts have been brought together in one place. But the most singular "fact" of all is that this does not change the situation in the steel strike one whit.

The spokesmen for the striking union and for the adamant companies will continue to pick and choose among the facts to suit themselves, as they have been doing.

There is nothing to prove with facts in a situation like this.

The United States does not have a managed economy. There are no inexorable rules, other than the rule that companies which do not show enough profit to justify their existence eventually go down the economic drain.

No one has the right to say how much or how little profit they can make, unless they are unfortunate enough to be in the stranglehold of government. That is where some people want the steel industry to be, along with the railroads that are growing limp from the lack of profit. Fortunately, the steel industry is still full of fight.

If it has any real trouble, as opposed to the kind of imaginary trouble that causes creeping socialists to scream that things aren't being done right, it's this:

SOMEONE MEDDLED with the script that portrayed the mechanization and the ultimate automation of basic industry as a blessing to be shared by all the people.

Prices were to keep going down as productivity of both capital and labor went up.

Whenever capital put money into a new machine to make labor more productive and whenever labor stepped up its own efficiency, the extramargin of wealth thus created was to split up equitably among the people who put up the money, the people who put out the labor and the people who constituted the market.

Consumers were going to be stimulated to buy more and more by the increasing buying power of ever-more-valuable dollars. Workers were going to be given more purchasing power by the earned increment of their own wages. And savers were going to be given more incentive to save and invest by the promise of juicier returns on their savings.

At that point, though, the script was changed.

CONSUMERS were written out of it. Workers began to claim an ever-greater share of earnings. Savers, fearful of being pushed to the wall, began to clamor for a better break. Prices began to go up in a tail-chasing contest between unions and investors. Consumers were pushed to the sidelines. Prices went up and up and up — never down.

The consumers' role now is to be a sort of sounding board for the conflicting claims of the tail-chasers in the new game of seeing how much the market will bear. Consumers are the victims of the game, but they also are supposed to be the referee.

It's not easy to stay calm, cool and impartial under the circumstances. It would be a whole lot easier if just once the other two parties in the three-way deal would say to consumers, "It's your turn to get a break this time, suckers. We're going to give you the benefit of productivity, instead of grabbing all of it — plus a little extra — for ourselves."

One Thing Benson Cannot Say

A report copyrighted by The New York Times says President Eisenhower will put Congress on the spot next session with a call for a showdown on the wheat subsidy.

The President will be relaying the strong views of Agriculture Secretary Benson if he does this. But there is one thing Benson cannot say — one thing Mr. Eisenhower is not likely to say, either. Yet it very much needs saying.

The wheat subsidy has become the most flagrant example of treasury pillaging in U.S. history. Other schemes to rob public funds have been as bold, but no other scheme ever has been so ambitious and long-lasting.

About 6 per cent of U.S. farmers have a stake in the pillaging. But the stake of some of them runs into six figures; they are large operators. Though they are operating inside the letter of the law, it is no secret in Congress or back home in the wheat states that some of them are in business only to clean up on the wheat subsidy.

They exert heavy influence in politics. They are heavy contributors to campaign funds. They know how to play farm-bloc politics the way Van Cliburn knows how to play a piano. Every time Benson complains about them, they plaster him with political filth. They make sure he is booed the next time he speaks in the farm belt.

Benson, being in politics, himself, cannot fight back. The Republican party is in trouble in the farm states, because Harry Truman proved beyond any doubt in his give-'em-hell campaign in 1948 that votes in those states could be bought with subsidy money. If Benson were to say that in so many words, the GOP elephant would be shot on sight. Getting millions and billions of public money for growing a commodity already in surplus supply is a way of life supported by both wheat farmers and politicians. They refuse to be uprooted.

If President Eisenhower decided to call a spade a spade and the wheat subsidy a dirty deal in the speech he intends to make next year, he might save no money but he would make a lot of his fellow citizens feel better about a national disgrace.

A Day Etched In Infamy

There were enough betrayals in World War II to stoke a cynic's hot resentment for two lifetimes. But the day the cynics will concede should be etched in infamy more deeply than any other was Aug. 23, 1939, when it was announced in Berlin that Germany and Russia had agreed on a non-aggression pact.

Thus did the psychopathic author of "Mein Kampf," which explained why Germany must put down the threat of communism, come to a meeting of minds with Joseph Stalin, who had been making a career of ridding the ideological forest of "Fascist beasts."

It was the climactic sellout of the party-line people who had been following Stalin in and out and around and about at his whim. Liberals and parlor prinks who had been flirting with the Communist conspiracy gagged and drew back. The bitter-enders who stayed with the party did so with the final grim recognition that Moscow was calling the turn; that they were being used like pawns in a balance-of-power contest between politicians.

The Russian about-face, historians believe, was due to Poland's refusal to admit Russian troops in case of war. But Russia could have declared its neutrality, thus preserving its own freedom of action without opening the Polish border to the Nazi horde.

On Sept. 1, Hitler gave the order to march and Germany invaded Poland. England and France honored their commitments to Poland and World War II was well begun. On June 22, 1941, Germany marched against Russia. Foreign Commissar Molotiv muttered, "We had not deserved this." But no one agreed.

Perhaps Nikita Khrushchev, himself, did not agree. In any event, Molotov now lives out his days in exile while Khrushchev uses the hanging-fire issue of a German peace settlement to assert his power in the post-war world.

The Once Over

Norway and Anne Marie Rasmussen may do more for Rockefeller as presidential candidate than Russia and peace dove did for Nixon. Pictorially no pictures, from the Khrushchev-Nixon interlude can move the human heart like photographs of a bride, a groom and forgiving parents.

Rocky, as a surprised but far from stern and frosty father, may impress voters and bring revival of "Love is Sweeping the Country" as a campaign factor just as it was in a famous musical.

Steve, Anne Marie and Ma and Pa Rockefeller are better symbols of peace than trade fairs, electric kitchens, summit sessions, debates and tape recordings.

TO HAVE ROMEO AND JULIET in your corner can be an advantage in the march to the White House. You can get even money that the picture of Dick Nixon as a capable and valiant leader holding Khrushchev to at least a draw in the Soviet Union can't warm up America more than Rocky conceding an easy victory to Cupid in Norway.

Nixon shook hands with Russian toilers, kissed babies and was fast in rebuttals.

Rocky gave a "Hello" out there" to lovers everywhere and kissed Anne Marie Rasmussen, as cute a chick as war, peace or neutrality has unveiled anywhere in years.

Nixon will have to offset the impression that a swap of church organists, engagement ring salesmen, wedding caterers and boy-meets-girl programs aren't the hope of the world and that the words, "I do," are not more popular, after all, than "I don't."

Dick went all out in speeches to bring about better understandings and restore human happiness but Rocky came through with four wonderful words "Bless you, my children." He looks formidable.

MORTIMER TOPBLOWER reports a great thrill during the recent blackout of New York due to power failure. In a restaurant when lights went out the chef working in the dark put five instead of four shrimp in his shrimp cocktail. The most dejected housewife was a woman who, at the moment of the blackout, was trying to thread a needle and mend socks of her husband who, caught while using electric shaver, cried, "Help! I must have cut my optic nerve." The woman of the year was the gal who, to loud demand of "Do you remember where you put those candles?" cried firmly, "YES."

Some 1960 car models are out for press review and show quite a change in fins and front and rear grilles. This brings loud groan from the fellow who just got delivery of 1959 model so he could look distinctive.

Behind killers such as the one who murdered three people in a few nights on Long Island stand institutions, judges and parole boards who too often keep in circulation characters who are potential slayers. Some institutions to which they are sent do not even have walls or locked doors to prevent them leaving when in the mood.

Soviets have again brushed off a suit by Sherlock Holmes interests to stop them from stealing writers works without payment of royalties. Sherlock could only say, "My dear Watson we are on a wild goose chase. Let us not even waste the money to hail a handomcab."

Lame Duck?

Meany Would Close Door To Khrushchev

By Victor Riesel

UNITY HOUSE, Pa.

Nikita Khruschev, blithe spirit, is determined to break bread with American labor leaders as though he had not broken the heads and spirits of free working people inside the Bolshoi borders. For weeks now he has been pressuring the AFL-CIO high command to invite him to lunch. Assured of a gay capitalist reception in our country, the Premier of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics wants to be able to tell his folks back in the workers' paradise that U.S. labor was just as enthusiastic about his visit.

Victor Riesel

Last Friday evening a long distance telephone operator put a call through from Washington to this mountain top holiday inn of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. American labor's top council is meeting here in its mid-summer session.

The call was for ebullient James Carey, a member of the AFL-CIO executive committee.

THE CALLER was Soviet Russia's own laughing boy, Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. For some time now Mr. Ambassador has been asking Carey to arrange a luncheon between Premier Khrushchev and the U.S. labor chiefs.

For some time Mr. Cary has been for such a gathering. For some time now AFL-CIO leader George Meany and most of the high council have been opposed to talking even to Comrade Menshikov.

The Soviet diplomat has been most insistent. He even suggested the afternoon of Sept. 17 as a tentative date. Last Friday night Menshikov asked Carey if he had set it up. Carey said, "Not yet."

Menshikov asked if Carey would deliver a message to George Meany. Time was short now. Carey said he would. Shortly after hanging up, Carey found the U.S. labor chief. He reported that the ambassador had asked him to deliver a message in behalf of the Soviet leader. Carey waited. Meany looked at him, "All right. You've delivered the message."

This may not end it. Carey and Menshikov arranged a luncheon for Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan in the national headquarters of Carey's International Union of Electrical Workers, back on Jan. 6, 1959. Meeting at one o'clock that day with the deputy to Khruschev were such other high labor leaders as Walter Reuther, Joe Bierne, William Doherty and Karl Feller. It was their opinion that they could outwit and outmaneuver Mikoyan and tell him that free labor was opposed to the Soviets.

GEORGE MEANY refused to attend. His position then—and now—is that any association with the Russian rulers will be exploited by the Kremlin as a welcome by free labor to the Soviet dictators.

Furthermore, Meany and many of his colleagues don't want to give the bouncing Khruschev the opening for hopping in on the national AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco. This begins on Sept. 17.

Khrushchev expects to be in the Bay Area on or about Sept. 20. If the Soviet Premier asks his State Department hosts to get him into the convention, it would be difficult for the American labor leadership to refuse. If he did get a chance to address the parley, the talk would be exploited behind the Bolshoi and Bamboo Curtains for months as a friendly American workers' welcome.

This is the last thing Meany wants. He is opposed to any cultural or people-to-people exchanges with Russia on the grounds that it is still a slave state. Recently, for example, the AFL-CIO Department of International Affairs printed a study called "Forced Labor in the U.S.S.R. Today."

This appeared in the "Free Trade Union News." The document reveals that the Kremlin never did effectively change its laws on the arrest of political opponents or their use as literal slave laborers.

The Soviets, according to the AFL-CIO study, merely modernized their old camps and built a series of new ones in order to get more efficient work out of its slave prisoners.

RUSSIA NEEDS this efficiency because it has run out of available males. According to last January's census, Soviet women exceed men by 20 million. A recent count discloses that on the collective farms there are only three adult men to every 10 women. For the first time in human history, the rural birth rate is lower than in the city.

In the vast Siberian complex of concentration camps there are eight men to one woman. The Soviets simply had to ease up their arrests. This does not mean, however that Russia is any the less a slave state than it has been.

That's why most of the AFL-CIO executive council now meeting here will refuse to shake the hand of the master of such a nation.

Cause For Concern

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

American leadership is showing a growing concern about the ability of this country — at the rate and in the way we are going — to keep up with Soviet progress.

Time was when Soviet claims to achievement were taken with a grain of salt in the United States.

That attitude began to change when the Soviets showed how far advanced they were, industrially and scientifically, first by making the atom bomb, then the hydrogen bomb, and then beating us into outer space with their Sputniks in 1957.

Earlier in the week this writer reported President Eisenhower:

1. Is concerned about the driving urge to get ahead which the Soviets seven-year plan is giving them.

2. Thinks this country needs an incentive toward harder work—something similar to the seven-year plan—which he believes is providing the Soviet people with the moral equivalent of war.

3. Feels Americans must be induced to work harder, think more of achievement, less of leisure and money.

Now comes the Draper committee—a 10-man group headed by the investment banker, William H. Draper Jr.—which sounds like a direct echo of the President.

Eisenhower created this committee to study the United States program of military assistance to other countries. Its report, made public Thursday, urged even bigger aid and went much beyond talking in terms of weapons alone.

The 10-man group sought to look at the Soviet challenge from many angles—its progress, its productive expansion, its goals, and its tactics—plus the need it creates for American efforts to match Soviet efforts.

The committee, noting the Soviets are maintaining a higher rate of growth than the United States in industrial production and in their technology and technical education, said:

"Their objective of equaling and exceeding the United States in selected areas of their own choosing has provided an unusual psychological stimulation to their people which we must more than match by dedication to our own cause.

"These trends in the Communist world cannot be ignored. They suggest the need for real concern about our present and prospective rates of progress which will determine our future ability to compete with communist states.

All this requires a positive individual and national dedication, more emphasis on hard constructive work and thought, less rather than more emphasis on leisure, more rather than less application to our tasks."

The similarity between Eisenhower's thinking and the committee's statement may have been the result of the President's having seen the Draper report before it was made public.

But he was concerned about this problem of competition and incentives many months ago. He announced in his State of the Union message last January he would create a committee to study and then propose national goals.

The Soviets' seven-year plan is in their case a national goal. Eisenhower is ready to name his committee as soon as he can find enough private organizations to finance its work. He doesn't want the government to foot the bill.

But neither Eisenhower nor the Draper committee has come up with an answer to the question they raise:

How can Americans—people in a free society — be induced to work harder and think less of leisure and money in order to compete with the Soviet people living under a dictatorship which can direct, control and compel them?

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The annual reunion of the Burbick family was held at the home of George Burbick, 3 miles north of Lisbon. Clark Burbick of Leetonia was named president.

A record enrollment of 450 freshmen was announced by B. G. Ludwig, high school principal.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Three East Liverpool girls were among the thousands of American nationals who prepared to rush home as war clouds grew darker over Europe.

Edward Anson won the 50-yard dash during swimming competition and also captured the badminton crown at the YMCA Pine Ridge Camp.

TEN YEARS AGO — Employes of the Frank Crook Furniture Co. held a corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Skelton on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

Harvey Egan of Islip, N. Y., a former music instructor in the Chester schools, visited relatives in Chester.

U.S. Double-Crossed

By David Lawrence

Laos Situation Indicates Shady Dealings

Evidence is accumulating that Nikita Khrushchev was double-crossing President Eisenhower all the time that the chief executive was discussing with him, through diplomatic channels, the possibility of inviting the Soviet Premier to visit the United States as a means of relieving international tensions. The critical situation that has arisen in Laos is the direct result of the Soviet government's decision during the last few weeks to intensify the "cold war" in the southeast Asian peninsula.

David Lawrence

Also the Chinese Communists, who act only after collaboration between Peiping and Moscow, have begun an invasion of Ladak — one of the states which is an integral part of the territory of India. It is on the border of Tibet.

This is an odd way to try to "relieve tensions." In fact, there is every indication that, so far as the Moscow government is concerned, there has been a stepping up of the tempo of the "cold war" in Asia. Thus, the Red Chinese are making hostile moves in the direction of Nepal — an independent republic—which lies on the border between India and Tibert. Latest maps from Peiping not only show Nepal as a part of Red China but they include within Communist jurisdiction the northern state of Ladak in India itself.

THIS BRAZEN AGGRESSION has attracted the attention of free governments throughout the world but not that of the free peoples, so many of whom are busily engaged now in discussions of how Nikita Khrushchev should be entertained on his visit to the United States.

The Soviet government, of course, has been sending out propaganda denying its maneuvers in Laos and other areas. Indeed, the Moscor Foreign Office makes the amazing claim now that the United States has violated the neutrality of Laos by setting up military bases there. Yet officials of the Soviet Union are well aware that the United States has no bases or any organized military missions in that country.

The fighting in the little Buddhist kingdom of Laos has been carried on by an estimated 2,000 Red guerrillas who are attacking government outposts points. The invading forces come across the border from Communist North Vietnam and are regularly supplied from there and from Red China. Significantly the Moscow official organ, "Izvestia," has served notice that hostilities "are apt to grow into protracted bloodletting and they may spread beyond Laos, engulfing a whole line of Southeast Asia countries."

All this started happening just after Nikita Khrushchev conducted personal conversations recently with Ho Chi Minh, the Communist premier of North Vietnam.

Both the Laotian provinces which now have been invaded from North Vietnam were held by the Communist forces before the 1954 truce conference at Geneva, which this writer covered at the time. It was not until three years later that the Communists actually turned over the control of the disputed provinces. Now it looks as if the Reds want to taken them back.

MANY PEOPLE may have forgotten the 1954 conference that ended the bloody war in Indochina, in which the French made such big sacrifices to defend their protectorate. They finally agreed to release their former colonies from any jurisdiction by the French government. Solemn agreements were entered into then by the Communists, which now have been broken. The resumption of the war in Indochina is on a par with the repeated violations of the Korean armistice by the Communists.

Laos is striving to get the United Nations to take some action or at least to make a thorough investigation of the fighting.

State Department officials are embarrassed. They hesitate to come out in the open and accuse Khrushchev of bad faith, because everything is supposed to be sweetness and light these days in relation to the Soviet Union since the Soviet Premier is coming here as an official guest. No such compunction seems to affect the soviet premier, who, as the man in governmental authority, has issued the instructions to stir up war in the provinces of Laos and northern India.

Bottled Soft Drinks Affected

Some New Items Included In Pennsylvania Sales Tax

HARRISBURG — The four per cent sales tax which went into force at 3:05 p. m. Friday will apply to a number of new items and will put thousands of additional persons into the business of collecting the sales tax.

The new items to which it will apply are:

Bottled soft drinks, sold by any soft drink distributor to any person for any purpose; beers or other malt beverages sold by a manufacturer to distributors or to any person other than a distributor for any purpose; liquor sold by state stores for any purpose.

Laundry, dry cleaning and tailoring services, automatic laundromats, state inspection of motor vehicles; charges for warranties involved in the sale of personal property are subject to the tax.

The following items are no longer subject to the sales tax:

Charges for installing newly purchased property, if such charges are separately scheduled.

Property incorporated or used in the construction of foundations for machinery or equipment directly used in manufacturing, farming and public utility services.

Materials and supplies for routine maintenance and repairs by charities, churches, and similar non-profit organizations.

Machinery, equipment, printing services and repairs to equipment used directly in radio and TV broadcasting.

Property brought into the state, if purchased six months prior to the date of importation, by a person or business not actually in business within the Commonwealth at the time of importation. This exemption does not include property brought in for temporary use in connection with real estate construction.

Revenue Secretary Charles M. Dougherty emphasized the importance of the tax being collected by the sellers of goods and services heretofore untaxed. He specified that tailors and dressmakers must start collecting the tax immediately as well as shoe repairmen and firms or individuals in such businesses as cleaning of curtains and rugs.

"These services include all dry-cleaning, pressing, mending, dyeing, tinting, or any such services except the laundering of diapers and alterations paid for by the seller of new clothing," the revenue secretary said.

He warned that no persons engaged in any of these businesses will be relieved of taxes which he should have collected because he has not obtained a sales tax license.

The licenses may be obtained at the nearest State Sales Tax Office or by writing to the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax, Department of Revenue, Harrisburg, Pa. Local Sales Tax offices in Western Pennsylvania are located at:

The State Office Building, Gateway Center, Pittsburgh; 154 South Jefferson Street, Kittanning; 138 North Main Street, Greensburg; 22½ South Mill Street, New Castle; 1200 Twelfth Avenue, Altoona; 222-226 Seneca Street, Oil City; 418 Commerce Building, Erie; Carnegie Building, Johnstown.

Gov. Lawrence said that $18,500,000 of revenue from the 4 per cent sales tax bill has been lost because of the delays in passage brought about by legislative infighting. The legislative estimate is that the sales levy will produce $148,500,000. Gov. Lawrence estimates $13,000,000.

Bottled Soft Drinks Affected

Some New Items Included In Pennsylvania Sales Tax

HARRISBURG — The four per cent sales tax which went into force at 3:05 p. m. Friday will apply to a number of new items and will put thousands of additional persons into the business of collecting the sales tax.

The new items to which it will apply are:

Bottled soft drinks, sold by any soft drink distributor to any person for any purpose; beers or other malt beverages sold by a manufacturer to distributors or to any person other than a distributor for any purpose; liquor sold by state stores for any purpose.

Laundry, dry cleaning and tailoring services, automatic laundromats, state inspection of motor vehicles; charges for warranties involved in the sale of personal property are subject to the tax.

The following items are no longer subject to the sales tax:

Charges for installing newly purchased property, if such charges are separately scheduled.

Property incorporated or used in the construction of foundations for machinery or equipment directly used in manufacturing, farming and public utility services.

Materials and supplies for routine maintenance and repairs by charities, churches, and similar non-profit organizations.

Machinery, equipment, printing services and repairs to equipment used directly in radio and TV broadcasting.

Property brought into the state, if purchased six months prior to the date of importation, by a person or business not actually in business within the Commonwealth at the time of importation. This exemption does not include property brought in for temporary use in connection with real estate construction.

Revenue Secretary Charles M. Dougherty emphasized the importance of the tax being collected by the sellers of goods and services heretofore untaxed. He specified that tailors and dressmakers must start collecting the tax immediately as well as shoe repairmen and firms or individuals in such businesses as cleaning of curtains and rugs.

"These services include all dry-cleaning, pressing, mending, dyeing, tinting, or any such services except the laundering of diapers and alterations paid for by the seller of new clothing," the revenue secretary said.

He warned that no persons engaged in any of these businesses will be relieved of taxes which he should have collected because he has not obtained a sales tax license.

The licenses may be obtained at the nearest State Sales Tax Office or by writing to the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax, Department of Revenue, Harrisburg, Pa. Local Sales Tax offices in Western Pennsylvania are located at:

The State Office Building, Gateway Center, Pittsburgh; 154 South Jefferson Street, Kittanning; 138 North Main Street, Greensburg; 22½ South Mill Street, New Castle; 1200 Twelfth Avenue, Altoona; 222-226 Seneca Street, Oil City; 418 Commerce Building, Erie; Carnegie Building, Johnstown.

Joint Sewage Project Aired

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners met with representatives of Alliance and Mahoning and Stark Counties Wednesday in the mayor's office in Alliance and discussed the possibility of a joint sewage disposal system for Northwest Columbiana County, Southeast Mahoning County, parts of Stark County and Alliance.

Alliance is building a disposal plant and requested the conference to determine if county residents in this vicinity would be interested in joining it, or connect into the new system.

At present, it would affect 143 families in Columbiana County involving over 500 acres and the estimated cost Alliance gave county commissioners was $153,800.

At these figures, it would cost each family over $1,000 to get the line near their homes, then they would have to pay the costs of pipe to connect into the main line. Also, they would pay a monthly fee. Alliance is charging 50 per cent of the water bills, Max Gard, president of the county commissioners, said.

Plans will be given to the commissioners by Alliance officials and a meeting will be set. The 143 families that might be interested will be notified.

The four groups will meet again around Oct. 1 to see if any further areas would be interested in joining the sewage system.

Crucible Local Head Mum On Strike Aid

Joe D'Alesio, president of Steelworkers Local 1212, said he had no comment on the possibility of its treasury being used for a strike relief fund following a membership meeting Thursday night in the Midland Union Hall.

D'Alesio said this would require the sanction of the international union.

The question of using the treasury Aliquippa Local 1211, which has $650,000, never got to a membership vote during a meeting which ended in a near riot last night. The trouble began over questioning of previous minutes authorizing Nick Mamula, president, to hire an attorney for the local's case of eight members fired in July by Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., who were accused of causing a wildcat strike.

The Executive Board of 1211 recently approved the strike fund.

Post Awards Contract To Level Old Theater

The Board of Directors of Chester American Legion Post 121 Thursday night awarded a $2,500 contract to Leo Frazier and Charles French of Chester to raze the Alpine Theater building on Carolina Ave., which the post acquired at a public auction a few months ago.

The contract calls for razing of the big masonry building and leveling of the site to the height of the adjoining street and alley. The work will be completed in 90 days. Dwight Allison, commander, said the post has no immediate future plans for the site, but it will be used at least temporarily as a parking lot.

The post acquired the structure for $3,200 in a delinquent tax sale. The former owner was Allied Alpine Theater Co., headed by Lee VanTilberg of Steubenville.

Joint Sewage Project Aired

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners met with representatives of Alliance and Mahoning and Stark Counties Wednesday in the mayor's office in Alliance and discussed the possibility of a joint sewage disposal system for Northwest Columbiana County, Southeast Mahoning County, parts of Stark County and Alliance.

Alliance is building a disposal plant and requested the conference to determine if county residents in this vicinity would be interested in joining it, or connect into the new system.

At present, it would affect 143 families in Columbiana County involving over 500 acres and the estimated cost Alliance gave county commissioners was $153,800.

At these figures, it would cost each family over $1,000 to get the line near their homes, then they would have to pay the costs of pipe to connect into the main line. Also, they would pay a monthly fee. Alliance is charging 50 per cent of the water bills, Max Gard, president of the county commissioners, said.

Plans will be given to the commissioners by Alliance officials and a meeting will be set. The 143 families that might be interested will be notified.

The four groups will meet again around Oct. 1 to see if any further areas would be interested in joining the sewage system.

Perry Como Approach Worked

Ohio's Air National Guard Winds Up Training Period

By PHIL GUNBY

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis. (AP)—Ohio's Air National Guard—heading home tonight after two weeks at Volk Field here—took a kind of Perry Como approach to training this year.

And the pressure-off policy seems to have worked. Air Guard officials said today, despite at least two factors which might be expected to put the pressure on Ohio's jet fighter wing.

One was the use of a new training base for the first time since 1954. That was brought about by the second factor — expansion of training to include strafing, dive and skip bombing and rocketry. The base at Alpena, Mich., which Ohio used for five years, has no range nearby for such air-to-ground weapons work.

On top of that, rain at the end of the first week cut into the number of flying hours. It threatened to keep two of the three F84F fighter-bomber squadrons — from Columbus and Springfield — from completing their training missions. The jet squadron from Mansfield flew more the first week and has a better chance to fulfill most of its training goal.

But it's generally agreed that a more relaxed attitude resulted in greater efficiency on the part of the 1,600 men who form Ohio's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing.

Author of the pressure-off policy is Col. Dale E. Shafer Jr. of Germantown, Ohio. He is commander of the 121st Wing and a pilot in civilian life for a paper-manufacturing corporation (Mead) which has headquarters in Dayton.

In command for the first time this year, Shafer told his men at the start of training that "we can get the job done, and still enjoy ourselves, by maintaining a reasonably relaxed atmosphere."

Wellsburg Man Named As State Tax Chief

CHARLESTON (AP) — A young man from the Northern Panhandle has assumed the duties of state tax commissioner, succeeding John A. Field Jr.

Gov. Underwood Thursday named Donald C. Carman, 29-year-old Wellsburg man, to step into the commissioner's post left vacant when Field became a federal judge for U. S. Southern District Court.

Carman will serve the unexpired portion of a term to run until Feb. 28, 1965, if the Senate approves him during next year's session of the Legislature.

He had been assistant commissioner under Field since 1957.

Snap For Me, Pilot Says In Bomb Shelter Blastoff

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Test Pilot Al Blackburn, first man to blast out of a bomb shelter in a rocket-boosted jet plane, says:

"It was a snap for me, but you should have seen the mouse."

Blackburn was referring to a desert mouse accidentally caught in the cave-like shelter at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., at the time of blastoff Wednesday.

"The mouse staggered out stunned and shaken but he was definitely alive," Blackburn said. "I think he must have heard the laboratory people saying, 'let's grab him and check him over,' because he got right up and scampered off."

Blackburn used the mouse incident to minimize the dangers of his feat in an interview after returning to his home here Thursday.

"That mouse was exposed to the full blast and noise of the booster," Blackburn said. "I was protected inside the plane and the plane was out of the shelter in less than a second."

Blackburn had undergone 14 such blast-offs earlier at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., identical except that they were out in the open. The shelter take-off was made to prove that planes can be protected from sneak nuclear attack and still be ready for a quick counter-blow.

Blackburn's supersonic F100 was airborne after a takeoff of less than one inch — the distance the plane moved before breaking the shear-bolts that held it in the shelter.

Eaton, Springfield Area Men Ohio's New Plowing Champs

EATON, Ohio (AP)—Raymond Poos, 51, of near Eaton and 43-year-old Robert Griesser of near Springfield are Ohio's 1959 plowing champions.

Poos repeated as the champion level land plowman while Griesser dethroned Wilbur Rase of Wheelersburg as the best contour plowman. Rase finished fourth.

A crowd, estimated at 5,000, milled around farm equipment displays and watched the plowing contests Thursday at the Nevin Grice farm south of West Alexandria.

Lt. Gov. John Donahey spoke at the affair and airplanes made regular trips from a newly built landing strip nearby to take the visitors on an aerial tour of the area.

In the level land plowing Poos finished with 93.6 points. He was followed by Robert Cook, Urbana, 87.1; Howard Will, Vermillion, 84.2; John McCarty, Peebles, 77.3; Jim Guckian, Camden, 74.4; Richard Cleaves, Continental, 74.1, and Paul Miller, Lowell, 50.6.

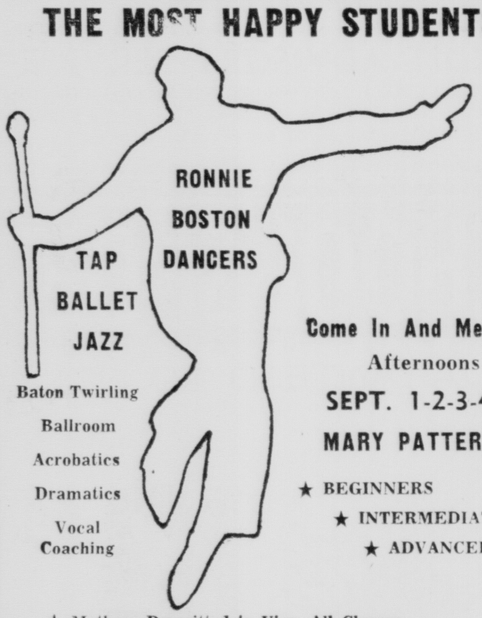

Griesser scored 86.7 points in winning the contour contest.

The others finished like this: Duane Mootz, Hillsboro, 84.7; John Rech, Marietta, 79.2; Rase, 78.2; and Daniel Postlethwaite, Mogadore, 75.5.

Mootz was the 1957 national champion.

Points in the contests were based on furrow slice, crowns and grooves, fracturization, back furrow and dead furrow.

Perry Como Approach Worked

Ohio's Air National Guard Winds Up Training Period

By PHIL GUNBY

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis. (AP)—Ohio's Air National Guard—heading home tonight after two weeks at Volk Field here—took a kind of Perry Como approach to training this year.

And the pressure-off policy seems to have worked. Air Guard officials said today, despite at least two factors which might be expected to put the pressure on Ohio's jet fighter wing.

One was the use of a new training base for the first time since 1954. That was brought about by the second factor — expansion of training to include strafing, dive and skip bombing and rocketry. The base at Alpena, Mich., which Ohio used for five years, has no range nearby for such air-to-ground weapons work.

On top of that, rain at the end of the first week cut into the number of flying hours. It threatened to keep two of the three F84F fighter-bomber squadrons — from Columbus and Springfield — from completing their training missions. The jet squadron from Mansfield flew more the first week and has a better chance to fulfill most of its training goal.

But it's generally agreed that a more relaxed attitude resulted in greater efficiency on the part of the 1,600 men who form Ohio's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing.

Author of the pressure-off policy is Col. Dale E. Shafer Jr. of Germantown, Ohio. He is commander of the 121st Wing and a pilot in civilian life for a paper-manufacturing corporation (Mead) which has headquarters in Dayton.

In command for the first time this year, Shafer told his men at the start of training that "we can get the job done, and still enjoy ourselves, by maintaining a reasonably relaxed atmosphere."

Wellsburg Man Named As State Tax Chief

CHARLESTON (AP) — A young man from the Northern Panhandle has assumed the duties of state tax commissioner, succeeding John A. Field Jr.

Gov. Underwood Thursday named Donald C. Carman, 29-year-old Wellsburg man, to step into the commissioner's post left vacant when Field became a federal judge for U. S. Southern District Court.

Carman will serve the unexpired portion of a term to run until Feb. 28, 1965, if the Senate approves him during next year's session of the Legislature.

He had been assistant commissioner under Field since 1957.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

'It Fell Flat On Its Face'

"The Ransome of Red Chief" opened the fall season of resounding specials in glorious, living color and fell flat on its face. No expense was spared to take all the fun out of this. An English director, Alvin Rakoff (actually a Canadian but his experience is mostly in England), was flown in to direct it like an English Christmas pageant. Phil Reisman rewrote it extensively so that every possible sensibility could be soothed and conceivably even numbed by it.

John Crosby

The little monster of the original story was made a nice lovable boy who had perfect Sunday school attendance and was only a little monster when he put his feather on.

Kidnaping, which after all is the cream of the jest, was considered too strong for Mr. and Mrs. Sponsor's palate, so that was carefully explained away.

But besides taking all of O. Henry's story out of it, Mr. Reisman put a lot of story in of singularly flat and uninspired design. For instance, the story opens with his two sharpers selling somebody the Brooklyn Bridge. I mean, why not maybe another bridge?

WILLIAM BENDIX and Hans Conreid played the part of the two sharpers acting in a manner that has not been seen in these parts since the demise of "The Black Crook."

The acting was all on an enormous scale, if you know what I mean. When Russell Collins, who played the skinflint banker, comes tiptoeing into the graveyard (what is he tiptoeing for to start out with?) he tiptoed from head to foot, lifting his foot practically to his chin. I mean ballet dancers tiptoe like that but nobody else I know does.

Most of the acting and direction this level of culture, which frankly is not mine. It's as if the whole thing were being staged in the Hollywood Bowl and they were being terribly careful that the people in the 50-cent seats didn't miss anything.

Either they're insulting my intelligence or this was maybe meant for children. But whose children were up at 11 p.m. when this thing went off the air? Certainly not mine.

I'D SAY the whole thing was pretty corny except that the word corny is getting pretty corny. It just ain't very hep, fellows.

The period, incidentally, was early 20th century, which meant cute and coy interiors and sort of musical comedy costumes. But it was all a trifle stuffy and, I'm afraid, it contributed to the feeling (fatal to any dramatic enterprise) that they were all just play acting.

I have a foolish fondness for William Bendix, whose huge expanse of face I find tremendously expressive and poignant. I must say he got a lot of mileage out of this antique vehicle.

Hans Conreid, who looks as if he had swallowed someting sour, was apt, though slightly monotonous, as his partner.

Russell Collins, I thought, was splendid and unremittingly self-controlled as old Ebenezer Dorset.

As for Teddy Rooney, who is the spawn of Mickey Rooney, I thought he was a mighty cute and reasonably talented little biscuit who some day may step into his papa's gifted ranks. Otherwise I found "Ransom of Red Chief" fairly inexcusable.

OF COURSE, I suppose we all should be decently grateful for anything that is live and from New York in this season of reruns out of Warner Bros., but there are limits to our gratitude.

Anyhow, I think the sponsor, ought to get a nice big kiss for sticking to live stuff from New York even if it insists on pre-tested stories which are supposed to have some magic ingredient like hexachlorophene that gives eternal life.

In so doing, the sponsor sticks its neck out to bad notices like this one. But it does get attention, and isn't that worthwhile?

The great advantage to doing something like "The Lawman" is that it presumably is reviewed only once and then no one (including advertiser or agency or network) ever looks at it again.

But is this the idea of advertising? I thought the whole idea of advertising was to attract attention, not to avoid it.

Woman Jailed On 3 Charges After Mishap

A 37-year-old woman was jailed on 3 charges late Thursday afternoon after she allegedly backed an auto at high speed and slammed into a parked tractor-trailer on E. 2nd St. near Broadway.

Mrs. Susan McKay, 321 E. 2nd St., pleaded innocent to all three charges today before Judge George L. Brokaw, who set her hearing Saturday morning at 9. She is accused of reckless operation, resisting arrest and driving without a permit.

Police said an auto driven by Mrs. McKay slammed into a parked seven - ton tractor trailer about 5:30 yesterday afternoon on E. 2nd 100 feet west of Broadway. The big rig was undamaged, but the crash damaged the entire left side of the auto Mrs. McKay was driving.

Keith E. Gilkinson of R. D. 2, owner-driver of the rig, told police Mrs. McKay "backed her vehicle into the tractor-trailer at a high rate of speed." Mrs. McKay and her passenger refused to make any statement about the crash, officers said.

The passenger, listed as Della Marcum, forfeited a $16 bond in court today on a charge of disorderly conduct by using profane and indecent language. Her address is unknown, officers said. Both women were cited by Patrolman R. E. Higgins.

By coincidence, a car and a truck were involved in another accident Thursday and the cars of two women drivers figured in a mishap at E. 6th St. and Broadway.

In the second car - truck crash at Broadway near Pleasant Alley at 10:25 a. m., a 1958 model rig driven by Ernest L. Jenkins of Freeport damaged a parked auto of John Burda, 515 Florida Ave., Chester, police said.

Jenkins told police he was attempting to park the rig, owned by Mineral Transport, Inc., of New Philadelphia, and the tires scraped the left rear of Burda's 1959 auto.

A collision at E. 6th St. and Broadway at 6:43 p. m. involved a 1956 auto driven by Kathy Johnson, 20, of Midland Heights, and a 1955 sedan driven by Phyllis Pierson, 33, of Sturgeon, Pa., officers said. The Midland Heights woman said she was attempting to park when the bumper of her auto scraped the doors and side of the other car.

New Accusations Rumbling On House-Passed Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new backwash of accusations rumbled today in the wake of House-passed labor legislation.

Fighting mad were:

1. The AFL-CIO Executive Council. It charged in a resolution that "the vote against labor last week was part of a legislative package deal between Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans. America must not tolerate such cynical political maneuvering." It claimed there was a swap to pass strict labor controls and kill off civil rights legislation.

2. James B. Carey, AFL-CIO vice president. In sharp letters to House members who voted for the measure he called vindictive, he wrote: "We shall do all in our power to prove to the working men and women in your district that you have cast your lot against them and they should therefore take appropriate action at the ballot box."

3. Many House members who got Carey's letters. Their retorts included "attempt at political blackmail" and "a cheap effort at intimidation."

The new outburst stemmed from House passage last week of a labor control bill sponsored by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich). The measure was backed by the Eisenhower administration. The AFL-CIO had called the bill anti-union.

Senate and House conferees work again today on compromising differences between the House labor bill and the one passed earlier by the Senate. The AFL-CIO also opposes the Senate bill, but not as strongly as the House measure.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Blood Sugar Most Important in Diabetes
● Football
Q. Can sugar be in the urine without being in the blood? If so, is there danger of it eventually leading to diabetes?—J. D.
A. As you probably know, the blood normally contains sugar whereas the urine does not. In true diabetes there is an increase in blood sugar above normal and some of the excess spills over into the urine. There are other situations in which the urine may show sugar or sugar-like substances. For example, in renal diabetes the kidneys allow sugar to seep out but there is no elevation in blood sugar as in true diabetes. From a health standpoint, sugar in the urine is the least important thing about diabetes. However, the urine test does offer a convenient means of detecting possible trouble and is used to keep tab on patients who are being treated for diabetes. Doctors can diagnose diabetes more certainly and detect it in milder form by determining the amount of sugar in the blood than by testing the urine for sugar.
Q. Do you think a 14-year-old boy should be allowed to play football?
A. The question as to whether a 14-year-old boy, presumably a ninth-grader, should play tackle football involves a good many issues. Certainly, the players should be carefully matched as to age, height and weight. Even so, the hazards of contact sports for children are obvious. Although there is some element of danger, many feel that supervised football as it is played at school is safer than the sandlot activities in which the interested youngster may participate if he is excluded from sports at school.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

'It Fell Flat On Its Face'

"The Ransome of Red Chief" opened the fall season of resounding specials in glorious, living color and fell flat on its face. No expense was spared to take all the fun out of this. An English director, Alvin Rakoff (actually a Canadian but his experience is mostly in England), was flown in to direct it like an English Christmas pageant. Phil Reisman rewrote it extensively so that every possible sensibility could be soothed and conceivably even numbed by it.

John Crosby

The little monster of the original story was made a nice lovable boy who had perfect Sunday school attendance and was only a little monster when he put his feather on.

Kidnaping, which after all is the cream of the jest, was considered too strong for Mr. and Mrs. Sponsor's palate, so that was carefully explained away.

But besides taking all of O. Henry's story out of it, Mr. Reisman put a lot of story in of singularly flat and uninspired design. For instance, the story opens with his two sharpers selling somebody the Brooklyn Bridge. I mean, why not maybe another bridge?

WILLIAM BENDIX and Hans Conreid played the part of the two sharpers acting in a manner that has not been seen in these parts since the demise of "The Black Crook."

The acting was all on an enormous scale, if you know what I mean. When Russell Collins, who played the skinflint banker, comes tiptoeing into the graveyard (what is he tiptoeing for to start out with?) he tiptoed from head to foot, lifting his foot practically to his chin. I mean ballet dancers tiptoe like that but nobody else I know does.

Most of the acting and direction this level of culture, which frankly is not mine. It's as if the whole thing were being staged in the Hollywood Bowl and they were being terribly careful that the people in the 50-cent seats didn't miss anything.

Either they're insulting my intelligence or this was maybe meant for children. But whose children were up at 11 p.m. when this thing went off the air? Certainly not mine.

I'D SAY the whole thing was pretty corny except that the word corny is getting pretty corny. It just ain't very hep, fellows.

The period, incidentally, was early 20th century, which meant cute and coy interiors and sort of musical comedy costumes. But it was all a trifle stuffy and, I'm afraid, it contributed to the feeling (fatal to any dramatic enterprise) that they were all just play acting.

I have a foolish fondness for William Bendix, whose huge expanse of face I find tremendously expressive and poignant. I must say he got a lot of mileage out of this antique vehicle.

Hans Conreid, who looks as if he had swallowed someting sour, was apt, though slightly monotonous, as his partner.

Russell Collins, I thought, was splendid and unremittingly self-controlled as old Ebenezer Dorset.

As for Teddy Rooney, who is the spawn of Mickey Rooney, I thought he was a mighty cute and reasonably talented little biscuit who some day may step into his papa's gifted ranks. Otherwise I found "Ransom of Red Chief" fairly inexcusable.

OF COURSE, I suppose we all should be decently grateful for anything that is live and from New York in this season of reruns out of Warner Bros., but there are limits to our gratitude.

Anyhow, I think the sponsor, ought to get a nice big kiss for sticking to live stuff from New York even if it insists on pre-tested stories which are supposed to have some magic ingredient like hexachlorophene that gives eternal life.

In so doing, the sponsor sticks its neck out to bad notices like this one. But it does get attention, and isn't that worthwhile?

The great advantage to doing something like "The Lawman" is that it presumably is reviewed only once and then no one (including advertiser or agency or network) ever looks at it again.

But is this the idea of advertising? I thought the whole idea of advertising was to attract attention, not to avoid it.

Woman Jailed On 3 Charges After Mishap

A 37-year-old woman was jailed on 3 charges late Thursday afternoon after she allegedly backed an auto at high speed and slammed into a parked tractor-trailer on E. 2nd St. near Broadway.

Mrs. Susan McKay, 321 E. 2nd St., pleaded innocent to all three charges today before Judge George L. Brokaw, who set her hearing Saturday morning at 9. She is accused of reckless operation, resisting arrest and driving without a permit.

Police said an auto driven by Mrs. McKay slammed into a parked seven - ton tractor trailer about 5:30 yesterday afternoon on E. 2nd 100 feet west of Broadway. The big rig was undamaged, but the crash damaged the entire left side of the auto Mrs. McKay was driving.

Keith E. Gilkinson of R. D. 2, owner-driver of the rig, told police Mrs. McKay "backed her vehicle into the tractor-trailer at a high rate of speed." Mrs. McKay and her passenger refused to make any statement about the crash, officers said.

The passenger, listed as Della Marcum, forfeited a $16 bond in court today on a charge of disorderly conduct by using profane and indecent language. Her address is unknown, officers said. Both women were cited by Patrolman R. E. Higgins.

By coincidence, a car and a truck were involved in another accident Thursday and the cars of two women drivers figured in a mishap at E. 6th St. and Broadway.

In the second car - truck crash at Broadway near Pleasant Alley at 10:25 a. m., a 1958 model rig driven by Ernest L. Jenkins of Freeport damaged a parked auto of John Burda, 515 Florida Ave., Chester, police said.

Jenkins told police he was attempting to park the rig, owned by Mineral Transport, Inc., of New Philadelphia, and the tires scraped the left rear of Burda's 1959 auto.

A collision at E. 6th St. and Broadway at 6:43 p. m. involved a 1956 auto driven by Kathy Johnson, 20, of Midland Heights, and a 1955 sedan driven by Phyllis Pierson, 33, of Sturgeon, Pa., officers said. The Midland Heights woman said she was attempting to park when the bumper of her auto scraped the doors and side of the other car.

New Accusations Rumbling On House-Passed Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new backwash of accusations rumbled today in the wake of House-passed labor legislation.

Fighting mad were:

1. The AFL-CIO Executive Council. It charged in a resolution that "the vote against labor last week was part of a legislative package deal between Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans. America must not tolerate such cynical political maneuvering." It claimed there was a swap to pass strict labor controls and kill off civil rights legislation.

2. James B. Carey, AFL-CIO vice president. In sharp letters to House members who voted for the measure he called vindictive, he wrote: "We shall do all in our power to prove to the working men and women in your district that you have cast your lot against them and they should therefore take appropriate action at the ballot box."

3. Many House members who got Carey's letters. Their retorts included "attempt at political blackmail" and "a cheap effort at intimidation."

The new outburst stemmed from House passage last week of a labor control bill sponsored by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich). The measure was backed by the Eisenhower administration. The AFL-CIO had called the bill anti-union.

Senate and House conferees work again today on compromising differences between the House labor bill and the one passed earlier by the Senate. The AFL-CIO also opposes the Senate bill, but not as strongly as the House measure.

Blood Sugar Most Important in Diabetes

● Football

Q. Can sugar be in the urine without being in the blood? If so, is there danger of it eventually leading to diabetes?—J. D.

A. As you probably know, the blood normally contains sugar whereas the urine does not. In true diabetes there is an increase in blood sugar above normal and some of the excess spills over into the urine. There are other situations in which the urine may show sugar or sugar-like substances. For example, in renal diabetes the kidneys allow sugar to seep out but there is no elevation in blood sugar as in true diabetes. From a health standpoint, sugar in the urine is the least important thing about diabetes. However, the urine test does offer a convenient means of detecting possible trouble and is used to keep tab on patients who are being treated for diabetes. Doctors can diagnose diabetes more certainly and detect it in milder form by determining the amount of sugar in the blood than by testing the urine for sugar.

Q. Do you think a 14-year-old boy should be allowed to play football?

A. The question as to whether a 14-year-old boy, presumably a ninth-grader, should play tackle football involves a good many issues. Certainly, the players should be carefully matched as to age, height and weight. Even so, the hazards of contact sports for children are obvious. Although there is some element of danger, many feel that supervised football as it is played at school is safer than the sandlot activities in which the interested youngster may participate if he is excluded from sports at school.

Kiwanians Hear Steel Official

Inflation Seen Main Strike Issue

One of the main issues of the steel strike is inflation, Paul E. Waight, an industrial relations representative with the Youngstown district of the Republic Steel Corp., told Kiwanis club members at a meeting noon Thursday in the Travelers Hotel. Thomas Doland was program chairman.

—:—

WAIGHT SAID the companies are not trying to "break the steel union." "The unions represent employes and the companies want the best for the employes."

"Inflation is the real strike issue. With an increase in wages, costs will go up, too, and the companies do not wish to add fuel to inflation and thus refused the contract of the union which resulted in the present strike," he contended.

He said companies did some "soul searching" on the matter of a wage increase.

He said steelworkers make $3.10 an hour and an added 57 cents for fringe benefits. They make 87 cents more on the average than other hourly employes and their standard is far higher than other workers of this and other countries, he declared.

—:—

HE SAID steelworkers have had a raise each of the 13 years since World War II.

According to surveys in major steel towns, Waight claimed workers themselves voted 8 to 1 against a strike and many opposed a strike for a wage increase.

He quoted a Gallop poll which he said indicates that 51 per cent of the population is against a strike, 41 per cent of the union members are opposed and 46 per cent, many in lower paying jobs, favor a strike.

Wages of steelworkers have risen some 48 per cent between 1953 and 1959, he said, while the cost of living has gone up only 8 per cent.

—:—

HE SAID THE average Republic Steel employe made $6,000 last year and this did not include fringe benefits to salaried employes.

He said that if steel companies had absorbed past wage increases they would be "in the hole" for some $35 billion and bankrupt.

Company profits have been about 8.1 per cent and rose to 8.6 during the first six months of this year when steel users anticipated a strike.

He said the rush of foreign steel being imported in this country poses a threat to steel making here.

"Germany and Japan can make and ship to us products cheaper than companies here can make them," he declared.

HE SAID THE union under David J. McDonald, president has asked for a shorter work week, a three-month vacation for employes every five years, triple-time for holidays and time-and-a-half for Saturdays and double-time for Sundays.

Companies rejected this offer and asked that the present contract be continued for a year or proposed a contract with benefits, plus a permanent 17 - cent cost-of-living increase this year and a modest wage increase next year. The union rejected this offer, he said.

Waight also discussed negotiation issues concerning wildcat strikes and featherbedding by unions. He said unauthorized strikes cost companies and employes much. The companies proposed that such a striking employe should lose a day of vacation for each day of a wildcat strike. The union rejected this, he said.

AS FOR featherbedding, he explained it by saying that Republic Steel added two relief men to help out a craneman during hot weather. When weather cooled, the union said three men still were required, due to "past practices", to run the crane.

The companies proposed that past practices would be accepted but no new ones added, Waight said.

Guests were Bob McVay of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club, John F. Kelly of the Lions Club, James Locke and Kenny Guy, both Key Club members, and Dan Conway.

John Mostoller, minister of the First Christian Church, led singing. Rowland Kaufman, president, presided.

Weirton Armory Receives Approval Of Senate Group

CHARLESTON (AP) — A military construction bill containing $5,797,000 for projects in West Virginia was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee in Washington Thursday.

Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph (both D-WVa) announced from Washington that the bill includes $3,957,000 for the Navy Radio Research Center which is under construction at Sugar Grove in Pendleton County.

Byrd, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said these other West Virginia projects are in the bill:

Army Reserve armories — Beckley and Weirton, $160,000 each; East Rainelle, Fairmont and Ripley, $29,000 each.

National Guard armories—Buckhannon, $206,000; Beckley, $200,000 Logan, Gassaway, Weston and Clarksburg, $189,000 each; Keyser, $157,000; Princeton, $60,000, and Ronceverte, $54,000.

The Logan, Gassaway, Weston and Clarksburg armories were not included in the President's budget requests or in the bill previously passed by the House, but were written into the measure by Senate Appropriations, Byrd said.

In a joint statement, Randolph and Byrd said they were "encouraged by the fact that West Virginia has been given a fair share of the total military construction allocations for the next fiscal year."

Commercial air transports in the United States began in 1921, when planes began to fly regularly from coast to coast.

Low Temperature Reason Capsule Not Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extremely low temperatures in America's Discoverer VI satellite may have frozen out chances of recovering an instrument-filled capsule it ejected over the Pacific Ocean.

The 300 - pound capsule was kicked loose Thursday night as the satellite orbited over the Hawaiian Islands. But no trace was found of it.

What went wrong? Scientists aren't sure. But they think the low temperatures in Discoverer VI may have affected the battery power supply in the recovery capsule.

If that was the case, the capsule was "dead" as it plunged down through space. Without the power supply, the capsule's radio beacon would not operate and its signal lights would remain dark. Its parachute would not open.

The powerless capsule would be unable to signal to plane crews that had hoped to snag it as it fell, or to recovery teams on ships that were to pull it from the ocean if the recovery by plane failed.

Chances of a successful catch had been rated to 1 in 1,000.

Kiwanians Hear Steel Official

Inflation Seen Main Strike Issue

One of the main issues of the steel strike is inflation, Paul E. Waight, an industrial relations representative with the Youngstown district of the Republic Steel Corp., told Kiwanis club members at a meeting noon Thursday in the Travelers Hotel. Thomas Doland was program chairman.

—:—

WAIGHT SAID the companies are not trying to "break the steel union." "The unions represent employes and the companies want the best for the employes."

"Inflation is the real strike issue. With an increase in wages, costs will go up, too, and the companies do not wish to add fuel to inflation and thus refused the contract of the union which resulted in the present strike," he contended.

He said companies did some "soul searching" on the matter of a wage increase.

He said steelworkers make $3.10 an hour and an added 57 cents for fringe benefits. They make 87 cents more on the average than other hourly employes and their standard is far higher than other workers of this and other countries, he declared.

—:—

HE SAID steelworkers have had a raise each of the 13 years since World War II.

According to surveys in major steel towns, Waight claimed workers themselves voted 8 to 1 against a strike and many opposed a strike for a wage increase.

He quoted a Gallop poll which he said indicates that 51 per cent of the population is against a strike, 41 per cent of the union members are opposed and 46 per cent, many in lower paying jobs, favor a strike.

Wages of steelworkers have risen some 48 per cent between 1953 and 1959, he said, while the cost of living has gone up only 8 per cent.

—:—

HE SAID THE average Republic Steel employe made $6,000 last year and this did not include fringe benefits to salaried employes.

He said that if steel companies had absorbed past wage increases they would be "in the hole" for some $35 billion and bankrupt.

Company profits have been about 8.1 per cent and rose to 8.6 during the first six months of this year when steel users anticipated a strike.

He said the rush of foreign steel being imported in this country poses a threat to steel making here.

"Germany and Japan can make and ship to us products cheaper than companies here can make them," he declared.

HE SAID THE union under David J. McDonald, president has asked for a shorter work week, a three-month vacation for employes every five years, triple-time for holidays and time-and-a-half for Saturdays and double-time for Sundays.

Companies rejected this offer and asked that the present contract be continued for a year or proposed a contract with benefits, plus a permanent 17 - cent cost-of-living increase this year and a modest wage increase next year. The union rejected this offer, he said.

Waight also discussed negotiation issues concerning wildcat strikes and featherbedding by unions. He said unauthorized strikes cost companies and employes much. The companies proposed that such a striking employe should lose a day of vacation for each day of a wildcat strike. The union rejected this, he said.

AS FOR featherbedding, he explained it by saying that Republic Steel added two relief men to help out a craneman during hot weather. When weather cooled, the union said three men still were required, due to "past practices", to run the crane.

The companies proposed that past practices would be accepted but no new ones added, Waight said.

Guests were Bob McVay of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club, John F. Kelly of the Lions Club, James Locke and Kenny Guy, both Key Club members, and Dan Conway.

John Mostoller, minister of the First Christian Church, led singing. Rowland Kaufman, president, presided.

Weirton Armory Receives Approval Of Senate Group

CHARLESTON (AP) — A military construction bill containing $5,797,000 for projects in West Virginia was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee in Washington Thursday.

Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph (both D-WVa) announced from Washington that the bill includes $3,957,000 for the Navy Radio Research Center which is under construction at Sugar Grove in Pendleton County.

Byrd, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said these other West Virginia projects are in the bill:

Army Reserve armories — Beckley and Weirton, $160,000 each; East Rainelle, Fairmont and Ripley, $29,000 each.

National Guard armories—Buckhannon, $206,000; Beckley, $200,000 Logan, Gassaway, Weston and Clarksburg, $189,000 each; Keyser, $157,000; Princeton, $60,000, and Ronceverte, $54,000.

The Logan, Gassaway, Weston and Clarksburg armories were not included in the President's budget requests or in the bill previously passed by the House, but were written into the measure by Senate Appropriations, Byrd said.

In a joint statement, Randolph and Byrd said they were "encouraged by the fact that West Virginia has been given a fair share of the total military construction allocations for the next fiscal year."

Commercial air transports in the United States began in 1921, when planes began to fly regularly from coast to coast.

Low Temperature Reason Capsule Not Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extremely low temperatures in America's Discoverer VI satellite may have frozen out chances of recovering an instrument-filled capsule it ejected over the Pacific Ocean.

The 300 - pound capsule was kicked loose Thursday night as the satellite orbited over the Hawaiian Islands. But no trace was found of it.

What went wrong? Scientists aren't sure. But they think the low temperatures in Discoverer VI may have affected the battery power supply in the recovery capsule.

If that was the case, the capsule was "dead" as it plunged down through space. Without the power supply, the capsule's radio beacon would not operate and its signal lights would remain dark. Its parachute would not open.

The powerless capsule would be unable to signal to plane crews that had hoped to snag it as it fell, or to recovery teams on ships that were to pull it from the ocean if the recovery by plane failed.

Chances of a successful catch had been rated to 1 in 1,000.

Sneddon has been with the gas company 26 years. He started as a laborer in Steubenville in 1933, was promoted to leakage inspector and transferred to East Liverpool 12 years later, and was named plant and service foreman in 1954.

Born in Midway, Pa., he was graduated from high school there and studied industrial engineering from the International Correspondence School. He served nine months in the Army in World War II and was a corporal when discharged in 1943.

Car Wrecked By Blowout

A Hammondsville driver escaped injury but his auto was damaged badly when a tire blew out and caused the car to upset early today in Jefferson County, the Wintersville State Highway Patrol reported.

Robert Blackburn, 27, was headed south on Route 213 when a right rear tire burst while he was negotiating a left-hand curve, the patrol said.

The driver lost control and the auto veered off the right berm and rolled over. The mishap occurred at 12:30 a. m. today near the Route 213 intersection with Route 152.

Meanwhile, two tractor-trailers were involved in an accident Thursday morning at 6 on Route 7 at the Port Homer railroad crossing.

The patrol said a rig driven by Clarence M. Burge, 35, of Mingo was halted for flashing signals at the crossing when another driven by Bertram G. Long, 41, of Wellsburg came from behind and was unable to halt.

Long's truck, hauling coiled steel, veered and part of the load spilled.

Long's truck received considerable damage, the patrol said and he was cited for unsafe operation and fined $50 and costs Thursday by Jefferson County Judge Helen Huntsman of Toronto.

Sir Jacob Epstein, Famed U.S.-Born Sculptor, Claimed

LONDON (AP) — Sir Jacob Epstein, noted American - born British sculptor, died at his London home Wednesday night.

The death was announced today.

Epstein, one of the most controversial figures in the world of art, was 78. Born on New York's east side to poor Russian-Polish immigrants, he lived abroad for most of his adult life and was a naturalized British citizen.

Queen Elizabeth II knighted him in 1954.

Epstein's works were of two types—huge figures of enormous vitality and power which often infuriated the traditional minded by what they termed their crudity, and portrait busts of a host of famous persons which were generally admired.

His mammoth "Genesis't and "Ecce Homo," for example, split the ranks of art experts down the middle. Some considered him a genius. Others shared the view of a critic who said "Genesis" was "fit only for a hat rack in a lunatic asylum."

In recent years Epstein virtually abandoned the exaggerations of his earlier career and became almost a traditionalist.

"I have never liked controversy," he once told an interviewer.

NEW WAY TO HEAT YOUR HOME

Questions often Asked about Electric Heating

CAN ALL HOMES BE HEATED ELECTRICALLY?
Any house, new addition or existing room that can be fully insulated can be heated with ELECTRIC HEAT.

DO YOU HAVE A SPECIAL RATE FOR HOME HEATING?
No. Our Company has only one electric rate schedule for residential service. It provides for step-down reductions after the customer uses the first 30 kilowatt hours @ 5 cents each month.
Every customer who uses 220 KWHrs in a month—at a cost of $6.70—buys all additional KWHrs at 1.5¢ per KWHr. The rate used for home heating is 1.5¢ per KWHr. (Our special 1¢ rate for water heating is based on tank size).

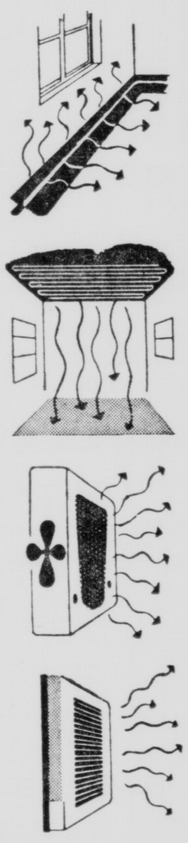

WHAT DOES IT COST TO HEAT A HOME WITH ELECTRICITY?
The cost of any heating system will vary with the size and type of house and living habits of the family. Customer bills show the yearly cost of electric heating to vary from 10¢ to 20¢ per square foot of living area. The average is 15¢—a 1200 square foot house would run about $180 a year.

HOW DOES THIS COST COMPARE WITH OTHER SYSTEMS?
A comparison of fuel bills does not tell the story. Other heating systems have "hidden" costs such as electricity to run blower, replace filters, repair charges and cleaning bills. With electric heating these items are eliminated or reduced to nearly nothing. When all costs are considered, Electric Heating costs little more than other systems.

CAN OPERATING COSTS BE ESTIMATED?
Yes—with a high degree of accuracy. Research by heating engineers provides established heat loss tables for various building materials. By measuring the various areas of the house and applying the tables, an accurate cost can be estimated for any climate.

IS INSULATION IMPORTANT?
Yes—a full insulation is necessary. We recommend the 6-4-2 formula. This means 6 inches in the ceiling, 4 inches in the outside walls and 2 inches under floors over a crawl space or other unheated areas.

TYPES OF ELECTRIC HEATING

Baseboard Heater—This attractive unit takes no usable wall space, is unobtrusive in appearance, and can be painted to match room decoration. The baseboard heater puts heat where it is needed—along the cold outside wall. Part of the heat is radiant, and part is convection. These units are cooler to the touch than steam radiators and most hot water radiators.

Ceiling Cable—Ceiling cable offers a truly invisible heating system. Insulated wire hidden in the ceiling provides an even, radiant heat throughout the room. Lengths of heating cable are merely stapled to the ceiling rock lath with a special stapling gun. Then coats of plaster or dry-wall are applied over the cables, completely concealing them from sight. The only visible part is the thermostat.

Forced Convection Type Heater—With this heater, a fan blows across an electric element to produce a circulating form of heat. Although suitable in most locations, this type is especially adaptable where it is desired to supply a large amount of heat with a relatively small unit.

Radiant Panel—With the radiant panel heater infrared rays are radiated directly into the room and some warm air circulates evenly to provide well-balanced heating comfort.

ARE STORM WINDOWS AND DOORS NECESSARY?
Yes—Storm windows and doors add materially to the comfort of the house with any heating system. Full comfort, the important factor in electric heating, would not be complete without storm windows and storm doors. Savings in heating costs will run from 10% to 15% a year.

HOW IS THE BASEMENT HEATED?
Basements should be heated according to the use to be made of them. Recreation rooms and play areas that are regularly used are heated the same as any upstairs living area. Laundries and workshops for occasional use are heated by portable heaters of the blower type so that thermostats can be adjusted to meet the use.

HOW DOES INSTALLATION COST OF ELECTRIC HEATING COMPARE WITH OTHER SYSTEMS?
The Electric Heating System can usually be installed with full insulation at about the same cost as that of other systems with minimum insulation.

WHAT IS THE LIFE OF AN ELECTRIC HEATING SYSTEM?
Unless accidentally damaged, electric heating units will normally operate satisfactorily for the life of the house.

DOES COMPANY HAVE BUDGET BILLING FOR HEATING CUSTOMERS?
Yes, for the 10-month period, September through June. Here's how it works: We estimate the total electric service bill, including heat, for the 10-month period . . . divide by 10 for the equal-pay-monthly-payment . . . you pay that amount each month beginning in September. Your June statement will show whether all budget payments have amounted to more or less than the cost of all electricity you have used. If you have overpaid, credit will be shown on your July bill. If actual use amounts to more than the 10-monthly payments, the additional amount will be added to your July bill.

Sir Jacob Epstein, Famed U.S.-Born Sculptor, Claimed

LONDON (AP) — Sir Jacob Epstein, noted American - born British sculptor, died at his London home Wednesday night.

The death was announced today.

Epstein, one of the most controversial figures in the world of art, was 78. Born on New York's east side to poor Russian-Polish immigrants, he lived abroad for most of his adult life and was a naturalized British citizen.

Queen Elizabeth II knighted him in 1954.

Epstein's works were of two types—huge figures of enormous vitality and power which often infuriated the traditional minded by what they termed their crudity, and portrait busts of a host of famous persons which were generally admired.

His mammoth "Genesis't and "Ecce Homo," for example, split the ranks of art experts down the middle. Some considered him a genius. Others shared the view of a critic who said "Genesis" was "fit only for a hat rack in a lunatic asylum."

In recent years Epstein virtually abandoned the exaggerations of his earlier career and became almost a traditionalist.

"I have never liked controversy," he once told an interviewer.

Car Wrecked By Blowout

A Hammondsville driver escaped injury but his auto was damaged badly when a tire blew out and caused the car to upset early today in Jefferson County, the Wintersville State Highway Patrol reported.

Robert Blackburn, 27, was headed south on Route 213 when a right rear tire burst while he was negotiating a left-hand curve, the patrol said.

The driver lost control and the auto veered off the right berm and rolled over. The mishap occurred at 12:30 a. m. today near the Route 213 intersection with Route 152.

Meanwhile, two tractor-trailers were involved in an accident Thursday morning at 6 on Route 7 at the Port Homer railroad crossing.

The patrol said a rig driven by Clarence M. Burge, 35, of Mingo was halted for flashing signals at the crossing when another driven by Bertram G. Long, 41, of Wellsburg came from behind and was unable to halt.

Long's truck, hauling coiled steel, veered and part of the load spilled.

Long's truck received considerable damage, the patrol said and he was cited for unsafe operation and fined $50 and costs Thursday by Jefferson County Judge Helen Huntsman of Toronto.

NEW WAY TO HEAT YOUR HOME

Questions often Asked about Electric Heating

CAN ALL HOMES BE HEATED ELECTRICALLY?
Any house, new addition or existing room that can be fully insulated can be heated with ELECTRIC HEAT.

DO YOU HAVE A SPECIAL RATE FOR HOME HEATING?
No. Our Company has only one electric rate schedule for residential service. It provides for step-down reductions after the customer uses the first 30 kilowatt hours @ 5 cents each month.
Every customer who uses 220 KWHrs in a month—at a cost of $6.70—buys all additional KWHrs at 1.5¢ per KWHr. The rate used for home heating is 1.5¢ per KWHr. (Our special 1¢ rate for water heating is based on tank size).

WHAT DOES IT COST TO HEAT A HOME WITH ELECTRICITY?
The cost of any heating system will vary with the size and type of house and living habits of the family. Customer bills show the yearly cost of electric heating to vary from 10¢ to 20¢ per square foot of living area. The average is 15¢—a 1200 square foot house would run about $180 a year.

HOW DOES THIS COST COMPARE WITH OTHER SYSTEMS?
A comparison of fuel bills does not tell the story. Other heating systems have "hidden" costs such as electricity to run blower, replace filters, repair charges and cleaning bills. With electric heating these items are eliminated or reduced to nearly nothing. When all costs are considered, Electric Heating costs little more than other systems.

CAN OPERATING COSTS BE ESTIMATED?
Yes—with a high degree of accuracy. Research by heating engineers provides established heat loss tables for various building materials. By measuring the various areas of the house and applying the tables, an accurate cost can be estimated for any climate.

IS INSULATION IMPORTANT?
Yes—a full insulation is necessary. We recommend the 6-4-2 formula. This means 6 inches in the ceiling, 4 inches in the outside walls and 2 inches under floors over a crawl space or other unheated areas.

ARE STORM WINDOWS AND DOORS NECESSARY?
Yes—Storm windows and doors add materially to the comfort of the house with any heating system. Full comfort, the important factor in electric heating, would not be complete without storm windows and storm doors. Savings in heating costs will run from 10% to 15% a year.

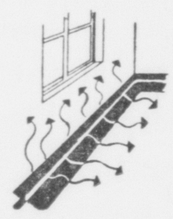

HOW IS THE BASEMENT HEATED?
Basements should be heated according to the use to be made of them. Recreation rooms and play areas that are regularly used are heated the same as any upstairs living area. Laundries and workshops for occasional use are heated by portable heaters of the blower type so that thermostats can be adjusted to meet the use.

HOW DOES INSTALLATION COST OF ELECTRIC HEATING COMPARE WITH OTHER SYSTEMS?
The Electric Heating System can usually be installed with full insulation at about the same cost as that of other systems with minimum insulation.

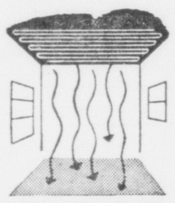

WHAT IS THE LIFE OF AN ELECTRIC HEATING SYSTEM?
Unless accidentally damaged, electric heating units will normally operate satisfactorily for the life of the house.

DOES COMPANY HAVE BUDGET BILLING FOR HEATING CUSTOMERS?
Yes, for the 10-month period, September through June. Here's how it works: We estimate the total electric service bill, including heat, for the 10-month period . . . divide by 10 for the equal-pay-monthly-payment . . . you pay that amount each month beginning in September. Your June statement will show whether all budget payments have amounted to more or less than the cost of all electricity you have used. If you have overpaid, credit will be shown on your July bill. If actual use amounts to more than the 10-monthly payments, the additional amount will be added to your July bill.

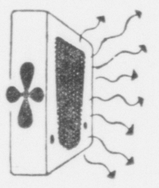

TYPES OF ELECTRIC HEATING

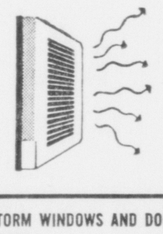

Baseboard Heater—This attractive unit takes no usable wall space, is unobtrusive in appearance, and can be painted to match room decoration. The baseboard heater puts heat where it is needed—along the cold outside wall. Part of the heat is radiant, and part is convection. These units are cooler to the touch than steam radiators and most hot water radiators.

Ceiling Cable—Ceiling cable offers a truly invisible heating system. Insulated wire hidden in the ceiling provides an even, radiant heat throughout the room. Lengths of heating cable are merely stapled to the ceiling rock lath with a special stapling gun. Then coats of plaster or dry-wall are applied over the cables, completely concealing them from sight. The only visible part is the thermostat.

Forced Convection Type Heater—With this heater, a fan blows across an electric element to produce a circulating form of heat. Although suitable in most locations, this type is especially adaptable where it is desired to supply a large amount of heat with a relatively small unit.

Radiant Panel—With the radiant panel heater infrared rays are radiated directly into the room and some warm air circulates evenly to provide well-balanced heating comfort.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This problem is so delicate you'll have to change the words to print it. I can't receive an answer at home.

We've been married eight years and both want a family badly. I've been to three doctors and they say I'm perfectly all right physically and I should be able to bear children. Each doctor suggested my husband come in for a "check-up." I've begged him for three years to go. He refuses.

If he's to blame for our not having a family I'd like to know so we can start adoption proceedings. When I bring up the subject he leaves the room. Why is he so stubborn when he knows this is vital to my happiness? What shall I do?—ALBERTA.

Dear Alberta: Your husband has a deep-seated fear that he's "to blame." The confirmation of these fears would be a devastating blow to his masculinity.

He's not thinking clearly on this subject because his ego is involved and he is filled with anxiety. The biological ability to father a child is not a measure of the value or worth of a man.

It's sad, too, because perhaps he needs only simple treatment, but of course he'll never know if he doesn't go to a doctor.

I suggest you stop begging him and proceed with adoption plans. As frequently happens with couples who give up hope of having their own children, once they relax and resign themselves the stork puts them on his delivery route.

Just The Beginning

Dear Ann: Can you relieve a tortured mind?

I'm getting married soon. My future wife's family is having a wedding shower and my fiancee insists I attend. This sounds foolish and I'm putting up a fight.

Is it proper for a man to attend a shower of any type? No guy I know has every heard of such a thing.—T.F.C.

Dear T.F.C.: If your fiancee wants you to attend the shower—do it. This is her means of showing you off.

I'd like to remind you this is the first in a long list of things you'll be doing to please her—although it may not make sense to you. If she's a good wife, she'll return the compliment. This is what marriage is all about, Buster. Welcome to the Club!

Prudence Paid

Dear Ann Landers: I believe in giving people flowers while they can still smell them.

About a month ago my boy friend developed wandering hands. When I ordered him to keep his hands off he called me a prude and took me home.

I liked this boy a lot and hated to lose him. I hardly slept that night wondering if I'd done the right thing. The next day your reply came in the mail. It answered my question and gave me confidence that I was on the right track.

You said, "The smart girl keeps her head. She keeps her dignity. She keeps her peace of mind. She keeps her reputation. And she also keeps her boy friend."

There's a happy ending to my story. Last week he called for a date. I accepted. The first thing he did was apologize. Now when we go out he knows what to expect. Thanks, Ann, you're a pal to every young girl who needs advice. — VALLEJO MISS.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Senate Passage Seen Of Military Projects Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick Senate passage was indicated today of a bill supplying nearly 1½ billion dollars to build armories, aircraft shops, hospitals and hundreds of assorted military projects.

Although objection of any one senator could have forced a three-day delay, the Senate agreed Thursday night to limit debate and begin consideration today.

This came shortly after the appropriations committee approved increases of more than 143 million dollars above the $1,285,002,700 previously voted by the House.

As the bill reached the Senate it was 24 million dollars above the military construction funds Congress voted last year but still 135 million below President Eisenhower's budget requests.

If approved by the Senate, as expected, the increases are subject to a later Senate-House compromise effort before final congressional passage.

2 Truckers Fined $25 For Overweight Loads

Two truckers were fined $25 and costs each in Municipal Court Thursday when they pleaded guilty to State Highway Patrol charges that they operated big rigs with overweight loads on Route 30.

They were listed as William E. Thomas as East Rochester and Conrad E. Nichols of Strausburg. Both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge George L. Brokaw.

The legal load limit for both vehicles was 31,500 pounds, the patrol's affidavits said. Nichols was accused of a 1,000-pound overload and Thomas was charged with exceeding the limit by 990 pounds. Both truckers were cited at 9:50 a. m. yesterday.

Cold To Khrushchev

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—About 1,000 delegates to the Army and Navy Union's 71st national encampment here resolved Thursday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev be given the "cold treatment" when he visits the United States this fall. The resolution said President Eisenhower's request that the Soviet guest be treated courteously should be honored, but urged the organization's 175,000 members to boycott any gathering Khrushchev attended "so that we may not be used as propaganda."

Last Confederate Vet Slept Most Of Day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter Williams, 116, the last surviving soldier of the Confederacy slept most of Thursday, his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, reported.

The old soldier, who is in critical condition, awoke only to take light nourishment of beef broth, she said. It was the first day of undisturbed rest in a week for Williams.

Woman Bound Over

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Leola A. Singer, 39, of Zanesville was bound over to the Muskingum County Grand Jury Thursday following a hearing in the July 17 slaying of her husband. Police have charged her with second-degree murder.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This problem is so delicate you'll have to change the words to print it. I can't receive an answer at home.

We've been married eight years and both want a family badly. I've been to three doctors and they say I'm perfectly all right physically and I should be able to bear children. Each doctor suggested my husband come in for a "check-up." I've begged him for three years to go. He refuses.

If he's to blame for our not having a family I'd like to know so we can start adoption proceedings. When I bring up the subject he leaves the room. Why is he so stubborn when he knows this is vital to my happiness? What shall I do?—ALBERTA.

Dear Alberta: Your husband has a deep-seated fear that he's "to blame." The confirmation of these fears would be a devastating blow to his masculinity.

He's not thinking clearly on this subject because his ego is involved and he is filled with anxiety. The biological ability to father a child is not a measure of the value or worth of a man.

It's sad, too, because perhaps he needs only simple treatment, but of course he'll never know if he doesn't go to a doctor.

I suggest you stop begging him and proceed with adoption plans. As frequently happens with couples who give up hope of having their own children, once they relax and resign themselves the stork puts them on his delivery route.

Just The Beginning

Dear Ann: Can you relieve a tortured mind?

I'm getting married soon. My future wife's family is having a wedding shower and my fiancee insists I attend. This sounds foolish and I'm putting up a fight.

Is it proper for a man to attend a shower of any type? No guy I know has every heard of such a thing.—T.F.C.

Dear T.F.C.: If your fiancee wants you to attend the shower—do it. This is her means of showing you off.

I'd like to remind you this is the first in a long list of things you'll be doing to please her—although it may not make sense to you. If she's a good wife, she'll return the compliment. This is what marriage is all about, Buster. Welcome to the Club!

Prudence Paid

Dear Ann Landers: I believe in giving people flowers while they can still smell them.

About a month ago my boy friend developed wandering hands. When I ordered him to keep his hands off he called me a prude and took me home.

I liked this boy a lot and hated to lose him. I hardly slept that night wondering if I'd done the right thing. The next day your reply came in the mail. It answered my question and gave me confidence that I was on the right track.

You said, "The smart girl keeps her head. She keeps her dignity. She keeps her peace of mind. She keeps her reputation. And she also keeps her boy friend."

There's a happy ending to my story. Last week he called for a date. I accepted. The first thing he did was apologize. Now when we go out he knows what to expect. Thanks, Ann, you're a pal to every young girl who needs advice. —VALLEJO MISS.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

About 150 Legionnaires, veterans and their friends are expected to attend, according to Howard Kaufman, chairman.

Rep. Hays and Rep. Frances Bolton expect to visit Moscow and confer with Premier Khrushchev. They will return to the United States in about two weeks.

Senate Passage Seen Of Military Projects Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick Senate passage was indicated today of a bill supplying nearly 1½ billion dollars to build armories, aircraft shops, hospitals and hundreds of assorted military projects.

Although objection of any one senator could have forced a three-day delay, the Senate agreed Thursday night to limit debate and begin consideration today.

This came shortly after the appropriations committee approved increases of more than 143 million dollars above the $1,285,002,700 previously voted by the House.

As the bill reached the Senate it was 24 million dollars above the military construction funds Congress voted last year but still 135 million below President Eisenhower's budget requests.

If approved by the Senate, as expected, the increases are subject to a later Senate-House compromise effort before final congressional passage.

2 Truckers Fined $25 For Overweight Loads

Two truckers were fined $25 and costs each in Municipal Court Thursday when they pleaded guilty to State Highway Patrol charges that they operated big rigs with overweight loads on Route 30.

They were listed as William E. Thomas as East Rochester and Conrad E. Nichols of Strausburg. Both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge George L. Brokaw.

The legal load limit for both vehicles was 31,500 pounds, the patrol's affidavits said. Nichols was accused of a 1,000-pound overload and Thomas was charged with exceeding the limit by 990 pounds. Both truckers were cited at 9:50 a. m. yesterday.

Cold To Khrushchev

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—About 1,000 delegates to the Army and Navy Union's 71st national encampment here resolved Thursday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev be given the "cold treatment" when he visits the United States this fall. The resolution said President Eisenhower's request that the Soviet guest be treated courteously should be honored, but urged the organization's 175,000 members to boycott any gathering Khrushchev attended "so that we may not be used as propaganda."

Last Confederate Vet Slept Most Of Day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter Williams, 116, the last surviving soldier of the Confederacy slept most of Thursday, his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, reported.

The old soldier, who is in critical condition, awoke only to take light nourishment of beef broth, she said. It was the first day of undisturbed rest in a week for Williams.

Woman Bound Over

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Leola A. Singer, 39, of Zanesville was bound over to the Muskingum County Grand Jury Thursday following a hearing in the July 17 slaying of her husband. Police have charged her with second-degree murder.

The Sports Bench

Venditti Will Get Good Look . . .

The East Liverpool Potters are only in the second day of practice for the long, hard football campaign that awaits them. However, about eight days from now, Coach Lou Venditti will get a pretty good idea of what to expect this season.

Lou has lined up a scrimmage with the highly-touted Massillon Tigers and Toledo Central Catholic both on the same day at Massillon, Saturday Aug. 29.

Before the Potters go to Massillon, they will warm up in a scrimmage at Campbell next Wednesday.

About the same number that reported the first day last year showed up Thursday at Patterson Field. Fifty were counted yesterday, while a year ago 47 were on hand.

Venditti will be shooting for his first winning season since 1956 when the Potters had an 8-2 mark.

Potter football followers should circle Oct. 16 and Nov. 20 On Oct. 16 East Liverpool will be facing Warren, a team which will be battling for the Ohio grid crown.

Then in the finale Nov. 20 the Potters travel to Alliance to meet the 1958 football champs of Ohio.

Since Warren is the fifth contest on the schedule, Venditti will have four games in which to get his team sharpend.

Another game which will hold a lot of interest for Potter fans will be that at Struthers on Oct. 23.

Ed Strauss, who was an assistant to Venditti three years ago, is in his first season as head football coach at Struthers.

Quarterback Troubles Face Browns

WE DIDN'T see the game, but several football fans from the East Liverpool area who watched the Browns-Steelers exhibition were in agreement that the Cleveland team will have trouble at quarterback this season.

Since Otto Graham retired three years ago, the quarterback situation hasn't been the same. It must be one worry after another for Paul Brown.

Brown will get another chance to experiment Saturday at the Akron Rubber Bowl when the Browns meet the Detroit Lions.

The Browns are being criticized for lacking a capable quarterback. The critics believe Milt Plum didn't have it last year and that Jim Ninowski is at least another year away from making the grade.

However, statistics point out that Plum was second in the league with an average gain of 8.57 and he completed 102 of 189 passes for 1,619 yards.

Statistics like that make it tough to call Plum "not capable."

While Brown knows pretty well what Plum can do he'll probably start Ninowski Saturday night.

Even Brown will be the first to admit that Ninowski learned several things against the Steelers. Ninowski completed 14 of 27 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown in the Steeler exhibition, but, more important, he had three passes intercepted.

"I'm still sure Ninowski has the arm and the intelligence and the reflexes to be a good quarterback under pressure," Brown said. "He had a chance to watch the man I consider the best pressure quarterback I've ever seen—Bobby Layne. But it took Layne three or four years to make it. We aren't asking Ninowski to do it in one game."

Hold That Line! . . .

COACH LOU VENDITTI, who opened practice Thursday for the 1959 football season, didn't experience anything like a Cleveland High School coach did.

Coach Jack Zebkar of Holy Name was baffled the other day when a 352-pound tackle reported for practice. Zebkar couldn't find any equipment to fit the 16-year-old giant. He stands 6-foot-3.

The youth, Dennis Moenk, needed size 54 pants and hip pads and a size 13½ shoe, along with a special headgear.

Zebkar immediately rushed a special order to a sporting goods firm. The coach said the boy has possibilities and he plans to use him. Hold that line!

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IT MUST make the Pony Leaguers of East Liverpool happy to know that they were eliminated by one of the best teams.

Akron, the team which knocked the local lads from the tourney, is among the eight teams which are battling for the national title at Washingon, Pa.

Akron won its first start Wednesday by defeating Springfield, Ill., 5-3.

A FEW football fans may be interested in ordering tickets for the Orange Bowl game at Miami New Year's day.

The Orange Bowl committee has announced that 25,000 tickets are available for "out-of-town" fans.

Anyone planning to be in Miami for the festival may obtain game, parade and fireworks tickets by writing to the Orange Bowl Committee, 615 S. W. 2nd Ave., Miami 35, Fla.

Ticket prices for the game are $6.25 and $4.

LANDIS MORGAN, co-captain of the Geneva football team last year, was among 60 graduates of the August Division of the class of 1959 who were presented diplomas at the recent commencement.

Tridico, who taught in Weirton last year, is being considered for freshman basketball coach at Midland.

Indians Move Within 2½ Of Loop Leaders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Washington has finished its 1959 business in Cleveland Stadium and has only two games left with the Indians in the capital—a fact which means the pennant chase will get rougher for Joe Gordon's hopefuls from here on.

Thursday's 6-1 victory over the Senators was the 15th for Cleveland in 20 games with the last-placers. It moved the Indians back to within 2½ games of league-leading Chicago.

Tonight the Baltimore Orioles open a two-game series here and will throw at Cleveland pitchers Hector (Skinny) Brown and Milt Pappas, each of whom has won three games from the Indians already this year. Jack Harshman will pitch for Cleveland tonight against Brown, and Gary Bell goes Saturday against Pappas.

Jim Grant's three-hit pitching and Woodie Held's 23rd home run added up to Thursday's triumph. Grant outpitched Pedro Ramos for the third time this season and ran his string of victories over Washington to 11—six this year and five last season.

Spoiling Grant's shutout was a misjudgment by centerfield Tito Francona of a sixth-inning fly hit by Bob Allison. It bounced off Francona's glove and rolled for a double while Billy Consolo, who had walked, scored from second. Francona could have backed up but thought he was close to the fence and jumped for the ball.

Julio Becquer's pair of line singles were the only other hits Grant gave. He walked three and struck out four. Consolo and Allison were the only Senators to get as far as second base.

"I gave them nothing but fast balls," Grant said. "That was my good pitch today, and I figured they might not be loose coming off the bench."

Ed FitzGerald's first home of the season gave the Indians a 1-10 lead in the third inning. Held's two-run homer sent Cleveland ahead 3-1.

Singles by Vic Power, Minnie Minoso and Francona, along with a foul fly by Rocky Colavito and an error by Zorro Versalles, gave Cleveland three more runs—one unearned—off Dick Hyde in the eighth inning.

Stansbury Burns Up Golf Links During Spare Time

A 41-year-old East Liverpool golfer, who sells furniture during the day, has been burning up the golf course in his spare time.

Floyd Stansbury, a salesman at the Smith & Phillips Co., came close to bettering his 8-year-old course mark Wednesday when he fired a four-under-par a 32 for nine holes at the Highland Country Club in Glenmoor.

In 1951, Floyd set the course mark with a sizzling 31, the best score he has ever had and the lowest anyone has ever shot on the Highland links.

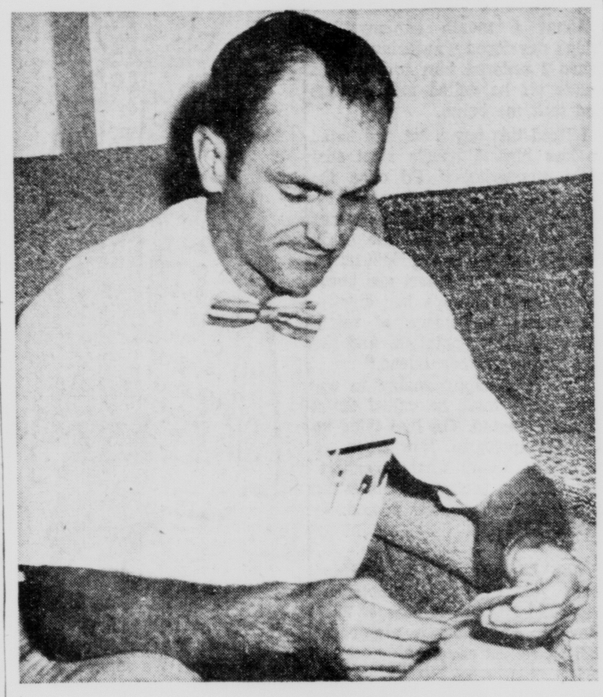

Par at the Highland is 36. In Wednesday's dazzling performance, Stansbury fired an eagle on the No. 4 hole and came up with two birdies on No. 5 and No. 6 and had par on the others.

Floyd says he has been playing golf since he was 10 years old, but has never entered any big tournaments.

He was a member of the East Liverpool High School golf team for three years when the sport was first started here.

Although he used to play golf often, he gets out only once a week now, he pointed out.

Low scores are becoming common with Floyd and there isn't much he can shoot for now unless it would be a hole-in-one, something he has never had.

FLOYD STANSBURY

Champion Flips Salmon Fly 227 Feet For Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A salmon fly was flipped 227 feet here Thursday, setting a world's record at the 51st annual tournament and convention of the National Assn. of Angling & Casting Clubs.

In the ⅝-ounce official distance event, Sid Liotta of Cleveland made average casts of 420 1-3 feet and a long cast of 436 feet.

Casper Rigamer of Ft. Bragg, N.C., won the crown in the skish bait distance. He made average casts of 259 1-3 feet and a long cast of 262 feet.

Other high men were Marion Garber of Toledo, Ohio, 256 and 260, and Steve Aleshi of Kansas City, 252 and 258.

Several Shelved By Injuries For Browns Contest

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Several players on the Cleveland Browns roster will miss Saturday night's exhibition game because of injuries.

Tackles Mike McCormack and Gene Cockrell both are out with knee trouble, and Paul Wiggin, slated for regular defensive end, has a slight shoulder separation.

Linebacker Galen Fiss, who suffered a badly bruised thigh against the Pittsburgh Steelers, will see only limited action against the Detroit Lions Saturday night at Akron.

Jim Ninowski is slated to start at quarterback, but coach Paul Brown plans to give Milt Plum some work also. Ninowski played the entire game against Pittsburgh, and although he made some mistakes Brown feels he has a chance to take over the passing job.

Brown also expects to use fullback Jim Brown more against the Lions. Jim was in for only a few plays against the Steelers.

Knoxville, Tenn. — Willie Pastrano, 185, Miami Beach, stopped Tom Davis, 211, Macon, Ga., 4.

Fans To Honor Nellie Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) —This is Nellie Fox Night at Comiskey Park.

The durable little second baseman who will be playing in his 635th successive game for the Chicago White Sox will be showered with gifts in pre-game ceremonies.

Probably his biggest hope will be that the Sox shower the Washington Senators with hits and win behind the pitching of unpredictable Dick Donovan.

The Sox, losing 7-6 to Baltimore Thursday, now have dropped 4 of their last 5 starts and their American League lead has sagged to 2½ games over Cleveland.

Losing hurts Fox more than anything. Since he came to the Sox in 1950 from the old Philadelphia Athletics he has been a team man. He has appeared in 10 All Star games and has led the AL in hits for the last two seasons.

The 5-foot-8 Fox, who is leading the league with 157 hits and is batting .322, could have been appearing in his 910th straight game tonight. But on Aug. 6, 1955, Marty Marion, then Sox manager, decided Fox was wearing himself to a frazzle and benched him for a day rest. It broke an original string of 274 games.

Art Schult, first baseman whom the Chicago Cubs purchased from Minneapolis, was born in Brooklyn 31 years ago.

Heat 'Penalizes' Potters As Grid Practice Opens

Thursday's heat which reached a temperature of 94 in the downtown area "threw" the East Liverpool Potters for a loss as football practice opened at Patterson Field.

Head coach Lou Venditti, who greeted 50 candidates Thursday, said "it was almost too hot for a good workout."

However, one backfield unit used by Venditti Thursday looked impressive in their first outing.

The unit was composed of Bob Mackall at quarterback, Sheridan Battestelli and Joe Thompson at halfbacks and Dave Zelch at fullback.

Venditti said the Potters will have "some contract work" in preparation for Wednesday's scrimmage at Campbell Memorial.

East Liverpool will meet Massillon and Toledo Central Catholic at Massillon on Aug. 29.

The Potters will continue with two - a - day workouts at 9 a.m. and 4:30 p. m.

Grant Chills Senators, 6-1, On Three-Hitter

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY

Venditti Will Get Good Look . . .

The East Liverpool Potters are only in the second day of practice for the long, hard football campaign that awaits them. However, about eight days from now, Coach Lou Venditti will get a pretty good idea of what to expect this season.

Lou has lined up a scrimmage with the highly-touted Massillon Tigers and Toledo Central Catholic both on the same day at Massillon, Saturday Aug. 29.

Before the Potters go to Massillon, they will warm up in a scrimmage at Campbell next Wednesday.

About the same number that reported the first day last year showed up Thursday at Patterson Field. Fifty were counted yesterday, while a year ago 47 were on hand.

Venditti will be shooting for his first winning season since 1956 when the Potters had an 8-2 mark.

Potter football followers should circle Oct. 16 and Nov. 20 On Oct. 16 East Liverpool will be facing Warren, a team which will be battling for the Ohio grid crown.

Then in the finale Nov. 20 the Potters travel to Alliance to meet the 1958 football champs of Ohio.

Since Warren is the fifth contest on the schedule, Venditti will have four games in which to get his team sharpend.

Another game which will hold a lot of interest for Potter fans will be that at Struthers on Oct. 23.

Ed Strauss, who was an assistant to Venditti three years ago, is in his first season as head football coach at Struthers.

Quarterback Troubles Face Browns

WE DIDN'T see the game, but several football fans from the East Liverpool area who watched the Browns-Steelers exhibition were in agreement that the Cleveland team will have trouble at quarterback this season.

Since Otto Graham retired three years ago, the quarterback situation hasn't been the same. It must be one worry after another for Paul Brown.

Brown will get another chance to experiment Saturday at the Akron Rubber Bowl when the Browns meet the Detroit Lions.

The Browns are being criticized for lacking a capable quarterback. The critics believe Milt Plum didn't have it last year and that Jim Ninowski is at least another year away from making the grade.

However, statistics point out that Plum was second in the league with an average gain of 8.57 and he completed 102 of 189 passes for 1,619 yards.

Statistics like that make it tough to call Plum "not capable."

While Brown knows pretty well what Plum can do he'll probably start Ninowski Saturday night.

Even Brown will be the first to admit that Ninowski learned several things against the Steelers. Ninowski completed 14 of 27 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown in the Steeler exhibition, but, more important, he had three passes intercepted.

"I'm still sure Ninowski has the arm and the intelligence and the reflexes to be a good quarterback under pressure," Brown said. "He had a chance to watch the man I consider the best pressure quarterback I've ever seen—Bobby Layne. But it took Layne three or four years to make it. We aren't asking Ninowski to do it in one game."

Hold That Line! . . .

COACH LOU VENDITTI, who opened practice Thursday for the 1959 football season, didn't experience anything like a Cleveland High School coach did.

Coach Jack Zebkar of Holy Name was baffled the other day when a 352-pound tackle reported for practice. Zebkar couldn't find any equipment to fit the 16-year-old giant. He stands 6-foot-3.

The youth, Dennis Moenk, needed size 54 pants and hip pads and a size 13½ shoe, along with a special headgear.

Zebkar immediately rushed a special order to a sporting goods firm. The coach said the boy has possibilities and he plans to use him. Hold that line!

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IT MUST make the Pony Leaguers of East Liverpool happy to know that they were eliminated by one of the best teams.

Akron, the team which knocked the local lads from the tourney, is among the eight teams which are battling for the national title at Washingon, Pa.

Akron won its first start Wednesday by defeating Springfield, Ill., 5-3.

A FEW football fans may be interested in ordering tickets for the Orange Bowl game at Miami New Year's day.

The Orange Bowl committee has announced that 25,000 tickets are available for "out-of-town" fans.

Anyone planning to be in Miami for the festival may obtain game, parade and fireworks tickets by writing to the Orange Bowl Committee, 615 S. W. 2nd Ave., Miami 35, Fla.

Ticket prices for the game are $6.25 and $4.

LANDIS MORGAN, co-captain of the Geneva football team last year, was among 60 graduates of the August Division of the class of 1959 who were presented diplomas at the recent commencement.

Morgan, who starred at tackle for the Potters, received a degree in industrial engineering.

BEAUTIFUL Lake Austin in nearby Jefferson County will hold its annual water show Aug. 30 at 2 p. m. Sixteen acts are planned, including trick skiing, ski jumping and a saucer derby.

A trio of water enthusiasts from New Cumberland will participate. Lake Austin is located off Route 213 near Richmond.

PHIO TRIDICO, the former Chester grid star, may accept a teaching and coaching position at Midland High School.

Tridico, who taught in Weirton last year, is being considered for freshman basketball coach at Midland.

Heat 'Penalizes' Potters As Grid Practice Opens

Thursday's heat which reached a temperature of 94 in the downtown area "threw" the East Liverpool Potters for a loss as football practice opened at Patterson Field.

Head coach Lou Venditti, who greeted 50 candidates Thursday, said "it was almost too hot for a good workout."

However, one backfield unit used by Venditti Thursday looked impressive in their first outing.

The unit was composed of Bob Mackall at quarterback, Sheridan Battestelli and Joe Thompson at halfbacks and Dave Zelch at fullback.

Venditti said the Potters will have "some contract work" in preparation for Wednesday's scrimmage at Campbell Memorial.

East Liverpool will meet Massillon and Toledo Central Catholic at Massillon on Aug. 29.

The Potters will continue with two - a - day workouts at 9 a.m. and 4:30 p. m.

Sued For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Welterweight champion Don Jordan was sued Thursday for divorce. Stella Jordan said he had used physical violence on her. The Jordans married in 1952. Each is 25.

Indians Move Within 2½ Of Loop Leaders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Washington has finished its 1959 business in Cleveland Stadium and has only two games left with the Indians in the capital—a fact which means the pennant chase will get rougher for Joe Gordon's hopefuls from here on.

Thursday's 6-1 victory over the Senators was the 15th for Cleveland in 20 games with the last-placers. It moved the Indians back to within 2½ games of league-leading Chicago.

Tonight the Baltimore Orioles open a two-game series here and will throw at Cleveland pitchers Hector (Skinny) Brown and Milt Pappas, each of whom has won three games from the Indians already this year. Jack Harshman will pitch for Cleveland tonight against Brown, and Gary Bell goes Saturday against Pappas.

Jim Grant's three-hit pitching and Woodie Held's 23rd home run added up to Thursday's triumph. Grant outpitched Pedro Ramos for the third time this season and ran his string of victories over Washington to 11—six this year and five last season.

Spoiling Grant's shutout was a misjudgment by centerfield Tito Francona of a sixth-inning fly hit by Bob Allison. It bounced off Francona's glove and rolled for a double while Billy Consolo, who had walked, scored from second. Francona could have backed up but thought he was close to the fence and jumped for the ball.

Julio Becquer's pair of line singles were the only other hits Grant gave. He walked three and struck out four. Consolo and Allison were the only Senators to get as far as second base.

"I gave them nothing but fast balls," Grant said. "That was my good pitch today, and I figured they might not be loose coming off the bench."

Ed FitzGerald's first home of the season gave the Indians a 1-10 lead in the third inning. Held's two-run homer sent Cleveland ahead 3-1.

Singles by Vic Power, Minnie Minoso and Francona, along with a foul fly by Rocky Colavito and an error by Zorro Versalles, gave Cleveland three more runs—one unearned—off Dick Hyde in the eighth inning.

Several Shelved By Injuries For Browns Contest

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Several players on the Cleveland Browns roster will miss Saturday night's exhibition game because of injuries.

Tackles Mike McCormack and Gene Cockrell both are out with knee trouble, and Paul Wiggin, slated for regular defensive end, has a slight shoulder separation.

Linebacker Galen Fiss, who suffered a badly bruised thigh against the Pittsburgh Steelers, will see only limited action against the Detroit Lions Saturday night at Akron.

Jim Ninowski is slated to start at quarterback, but coach Paul Brown plans to give Milt Plum some work also. Ninowski played the entire game against Pittsburgh, and although he made some mistakes Brown feels he has a chance to take over the passing job.

Brown also expects to use fullback Jim Brown more against the Lions. Jim was in for only a few plays against the Steelers.

Stansbury Burns Up Golf Links During Spare Time

A 41-year-old East Liverpool golfer, who sells furniture during the day, has been burning up the golf course in his spare time.

Floyd Stansbury, a salesman at the Smith & Phillips Co., came close to bettering his 8-year-old course mark Wednesday when he fired a four-under-par a 32 for nine holes at the Highland Country Club in Glenmoor.

In 1951, Floyd set the course mark with a sizzling 31, the best score he has ever had and the lowest anyone has ever shot on the Highland links.

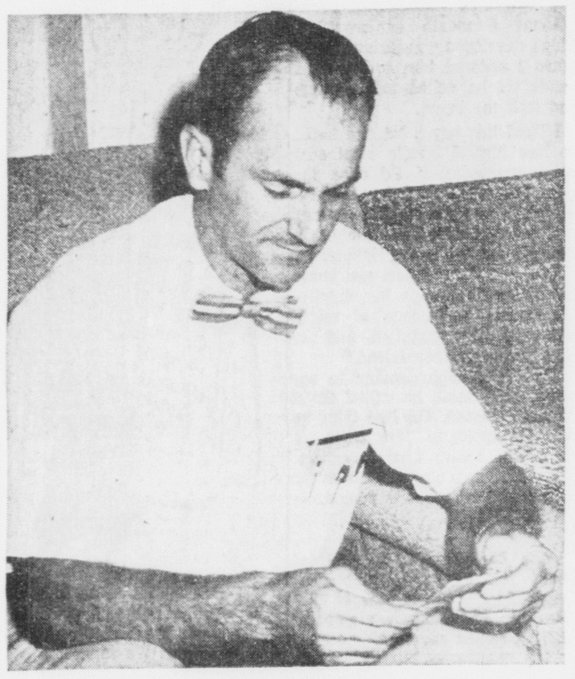

Par at the Highland is 36. In Wednesday's dazzling performance, Stansbury fired an eagle on the No. 4 hole and came up with two birdies on No. 5 and No. 6 and had par on the others.

Floyd says he has been playing golf since he was 10 years old, but has never entered any big tournaments.

He was a member of the East Liverpool High School golf team for three years when the sport was first started here.

Although he used to play golf often, he gets out only once a week now, he pointed out.

Low scores are becoming common with Floyd and there isn't much he can shoot for now unless it would be a hole-in-one, something he has never had.

Champion Flips Salmon Fly 227 Feet For Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A salmon fly was flipped 227 feet here Thursday, setting a world's record at the 51st annual tournament and convention of the National Assn. of Angling & Casting Clubs.

Jon Tarantino, all-around and all-distance champion from San Francisco, topped the old record of 203 feet in the salmon fly distance event.

In the ⅝-ounce official distance event, Sid Liotta of Cleveland made average casts of 420 1-3 feet and a long cast of 436 feet.

Casper Rigamer of Ft. Bragg, N.C., won the crown in the skish bait distance. He made average casts of 259 1-3 feet and a long cast of 262 feet.

Other high men were Marion Garber of Toledo, Ohio, 256 and 260, and Steve Aleshi of Kansas City, 252 and 258.

Fans To Honor Nellie Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) —This is Nellie Fox Night at Comiskey Park.

The durable little second baseman who will be playing in his 635th successive game for the Chicago White Sox will be showered with gifts in pre-game ceremonies.

Probably his biggest hope will be that the Sox shower the Washington Senators with hits and win behind the pitching of unpredictable Dick Donovan.

The Sox, losing 7-6 to Baltimore Thursday, now have dropped 4 of their last 5 starts and their American League lead has sagged to 2½ games over Cleveland.

Losing hurts Fox more than anything. Since he came to the Sox in 1950 from the old Philadelphia Athletics he has been a team man. He has appeared in 10 All Star games and has led the AL in hits for the last two seasons.

The 5-foot-8 Fox, who is leading the league with 157 hits and is batting .322, could have been appearing in his 910th straight game tonight. But on Aug. 6, 1955, Marty Marion, then Sox manager, decided Fox was wearing himself to a frazzle and benched him for a day rest. It broke an original string of 274 games.

Art Schult, first baseman whom the Chicago Cubs purchased from Minneapolis, was born in Brooklyn 31 years ago.

Rubber City Open Golfers Are 'Red Hot'

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A sub-par scramble to survive the halfway cutoff was on today as the $22,000 Rubber City Open Golf Tournament wheeled into its second round.

The country's top professionals made a picnic grounds of Firestone Country Club's rolling acres Thursday when 50 of the field of 132 matched or bettered par 71. There was only a five - stroke spread covering the half hundred leaders.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., the defending champion and holder of the Masters title, and the National Open champion Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., shot four-under-par 67s.

McCovey And Mays Help Giants Trip Braves, 5-3

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn couldn't do it.

Milwaukee's 38-year-old southpaw ace, called on for his third start and fourth appearance in 10 days, finally was nailed by Sad Sam Jones and San Francisco's Wonderous Willies Thursday night as the Giants beat the Braves 5-3.

It was Spahn's third defeat in his last four decisions and once again kept him from pairing with Lew Burdette (who beat the Giants 5-2 Wednesday) for the one-two pitching punch that had the Braves in command through the first half of the season.

The Giants retained their two-game National League lead over Los Angeles while skidding the third place Braves four games behind again.

It was Jones, beating Milwaukee for the fifth time against two losses (both to Spahn), and the Willies—Mays, McCovey—who did it.

McCovey had three hits and drove in three runs, putting it away with his seventh homer after Mays had lined his third single with two out in the ninth.

Los Angeles kept the pace, beating Cincinnati 8-5.

Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1. The Chicago Cubs split a twi-night at Philadelphia, beating the Phils 6-4 after losing 8-5 in the replay of Wednesday's 12-inning tie.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox' lead was cut to 2½ games when they dropped their second straight to Baltimore 7-6, and second place Cleveland beat Washington 6-1, Detroit walloped New York 14-2, and Boston out-staggered Kansas City 11-10.

Los Angeles, beaten by a seven-run eighth at Cincinnati the night before, squared things when a third strike got past catcher Ed Bailey with two out and nobody on base in the fifth. Blanked on two hits by Bob Purkey (10-13) 'til then, the Dodgers poured across seven runs in the fifth with Charlie Neal's double scoring two runs and Norm Larker's homer counting three.

Danny McDevitt (9-8) won it with Larry Sherry's relief after a pinch homer by Frank Thomas in the ninth.

Art Schult drove in two night-cap runs for the Cubs, getting the winner home with a fifth inning home run. The Phils took the opener on homers by Carl Sawatski, who drove in four runs, and Wally Post as Ruben Gomez (2-8) won his first since beating the Cubs May 21.

Bob Friend (6-15) won two in a row for only the second time this year for the Bucs, giving up nine hits but fanning 11. Dick Groat's triple beat the Cards and Ernie Brogilo (6-10) in the fifth.

Howell Tests Strength Of Giants In Exhibition

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There aren't too many people who have much sympathy for New York Giants football Coach Jim Lee Howell as he prepares his Eastern Division National Football League titleholders for an exhibition game against the world champion Baltimore Colts tonight.

Why this unsympathetic feeling? It seems that Howell has five quarterbacks on his squad, an all-pro halfback named Frank Gifford who also is dabbling as one of the signal-callers and a collection of behemoths that man the defensive platoon.

But Howell isn't buying the pitch despite the return of almost all of the team that won the Eastern Division crown in a playoff with the Cleveland Browns, then lost 23-17 in overtime to the Colts for the NFL title.

"Sure, we have depth at some positions, notably quarterback," Howell conceded, "But we are shallow at other spots like offensive guard, defensive end and defensive halfback. Unless we can plug some of these gaps, injuries could put us in a lot of trouble."

The 11-year- veteran Charley Conerly leads the quarterback candidates. But the Giants also have the highly-touted George Shaw, obtained from the Colts last month, their No. 1 draft choice, Lee Grosscup from Utah, holdover Don Heinrich and Gifford.

Off-season trades brought defensive halfback Dick Lynch from the Washington Redskins; guard Darrell Dess from the Pittsburgh Steelers and linebacker Tom Scott from Philadelphia.

The Giants drafted Rice All America end Buddy Dial, who should join veterans Kyle Rote and Bob Schnelker as top flankmen.

Rubber City Open Golfers Are 'Red Hot'

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A subpar scramble to survive the halfway cutoff was on today as the $22,000 Rubber City Open Golf Tournament wheeled into its second round.

The country's top professionals made a picnic grounds of Firestone Country Club's rolling acres Thursday when 50 of the field of 132 matched or bettered par 71. There was only a five - stroke spread covering the half hundred leaders.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., the defending champion and holder of the Masters title, and the National Open champion Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., shot four-under-par 67s.

McCovey And Mays Help Giants Trip Braves, 5-3

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn couldn't do it.

Milwaukee's 38-year-old southpaw ace, called on for his third start and fourth appearance in 10 days, finally was nailed by Sad Sam Jones and San Francisco's Wonderous Willies Thursday night as the Giants beat the Braves 5-3.

It was Spahn's third defeat in his last four decisions and once again kept him from pairing with Lew Burdette (who beat the Giants 5-2 Wednesday) for the one-two pitching punch that had the Braves in command through the first half of the season.

The Giants retained their two-game National League lead over Los Angeles while skidding the third place Braves four games behind again.

It was Jones, beating Milwaukee for the fifth time against two losses (both to Spahn), and the Willies—Mays, McCovey—who did it.

McCovey had three hits and drove in three runs, putting it away with his seventh homer after Mays had lined his third single with two out in the ninth.

Los Angeles kept the pace, beating Cincinnati 8-5.

Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1. The Chicago Cubs split a twi-night at Philadelphia, beating the Phils 6-4 after losing 8-5 in the replay of Wednesday's 12-inning tie.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox' lead was cut to 2½ games when they dropped their second straight to Baltimore 7-6, and second place Cleveland beat Washington 6-1, Detroit walloped New York 14-2, and Boston out-staggered Kansas City 11-10.

Los Angeles, beaten by a seven-run eighth at Cincinnati the night before, squared things when a third strike got past catcher Ed Bailey with two out and nobody on base in the fifth. Blanked on two hits by Bob Purkey (10-13) 'til then, the Dodgers poured across seven runs in the fifth with Charlie Neal's double scoring two runs and Norm Larker's homer counting three.

Danny McDevitt (9-8) won it with Larry Sherry's relief after a pinch homer by Frank Thomas in the ninth.

Art Schult drove in two night-cap runs for the Cubs, getting the winner home with a fifth inning home run. The Phils took the opener on homers by Carl Sawatski, who drove in four runs, and Wally Post as Ruben Gomez (2-8) won his first since beating the Cubs May 21.

Bob Friend (6-15) won two in a row for only the second time this year for the Bucs, giving up nine hits but fanning 11. Dick Groat's triple beat the Cards and Ernie Brogilo (6-10) in the fifth.

Howell Tests Strength Of Giants In Exhibition

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There aren't too many people who have much sympathy for New York Giants football Coach Jim Lee Howell as he prepares his Eastern Division National Football League titleholders for an exhibition game against the world champion Baltimore Colts tonight.

Why this unsympathetic feeling? It seems that Howell has five quarterbacks on his squad, an all-pro halfback named Frank Gifford who also is dabbling as one of the signal-callers and a collection of behemoths that man the defensive platoon.

But Howell isn't buying the pitch despite the return of almost all of the team that won the Eastern Division crown in a play-off with the Cleveland Browns, then lost 23-17 in overtime to the Colts for the NFL title.

"Sure, we have depth at some positions, notably quarterback," Howell conceded, "But we are shallow at other spots like offensive guard, defensive end and defensive halfback. Unless we can plug some of these gaps, injuries could put us in a lot of trouble."

The 11-year- veteran Charley Conerly leads the quarterback candidates. But the Giants also have the highly-touted George Shaw, obtained from the Colts last month, their No. 1 draft choice, Lee Grosscup from Utah, holdover Don Heinrich and Gifford.

Off-season trades brought defensive halfback Dick Lynch from the Washington Redskins; guard Darrell Dess from the Pittsburgh Steelers and linebacker Tom Scott from Philadelphia.

The Giants drafted Rice All America end Buddy Dial, who should join veterans Kyle Rote and Bob Schnelker as top flankmen.

Bailey Opens Door, Dodgers Trip Reds, 8-5

CINCINNATI (AP)—The night of Thursday, August 20, will go down in Ed Bailey's book as "Black Thursday."

Bailey has had a lot of hitting troubles in the last couple of years or so but he probably never has had anything to compare with Thursday night.

The biggest black mark, of course, was a side-retiring third strike on Danny McDevitt that the catcher from Strawberry Plains, Tenn., let get away from him in the fifth inning of the game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

McDevitt reached first safely and from there the Dodgers went on a rampage that produced seven unearned runs and gave them a cushion for an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati.

But that's only part of the story of Bailey's "Black Thursday."

In the second inning he struck out with a man on base. In the fourth he ended the inning by flying out with two men on. He was hit by a pitched ball in the sixth but in the eighth he struck out with two on.

That all adds up to five men he left on bases or failed to advance during the course of the game.

Bailey's bobble Thursday night was disastrous. Until then, Bob Purkey had allowed the Dodgers only two hits and seemed in perfect control of the situation.

After McDevitt reached first, the roof caved in. A single by Jim Gilliam and a double by Charley Neal produced two runs. A walk to Wally Moon and Norm Larker's home run meant three more. The sixth run came on Chuck Essegian's double and Ron Fairly's single.

They took pity on Purkey then and brought in Willard Schmidt but he yielded another run on a double by John Roseboro before getting the side out.

At that, the Reds threw a scare into the Dodgers. They had the bases loaded in the ninth when reliever Larry Sherry finally got the side out.

The Reds got a run in the fourth on a double by Vada Pinson and a single by Willie Jones and they added two more in the fifth. Those came on a double by Eddie Kasko, a single by Johnny Temple, a single by Pinson and an error by Don Zimmer.

Frank Robinson doubled and Jones singled for another tally in the eighth and pinch hitter Frank Thomas cracked a home run in the ninth in Cincinnati's dying threat.

Giants Smell Series '$' Win Those 'Big' Games

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants smell World Series money. And they're coming up with the big victories in their drive for the National League pennant.

"Those are the kind we have to win," said Manager Bill Rigney Thursday night after the Giants choked off a late Milwaukee bid to stagger to a 5-3 triumph over the inconsistent Braves.

The Giants were keyed up long after the game which enabled them to hold their two-game advantage on runnerup Los Angeles and drop the Braves four lengths behind.

"Those ninth inning chills are rough," said Rigney when he permitted newsmen in the clubhouse some 10 minutes after the finish. "Some of these ninth innings certainly can be long."

The Braves threw a scare into the Giants by pushing across a run in the ninth. With runners on first and third, San Francisco's right-hander Sam Jones got Hank Aaron, the league's No. 1 batter, to ground into a force play.

The Braves weren't very happy, but were far from discouraged after missing out on a big opportunity to close in on the Giants.

"We still can do it," said Manager Fred Haney. "We're just going to have to cash in our opportunities. We're not out of it yet."

White Sox Miss Pierce; Edged By Baltimore, 7-6

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody ask how much the Chicago White Sox would miss Billy Pierce? So far, the injured left-hander has missed one starting assignment and their American League lead is down to 2½ games, almost cut in half.

The White Sox led by 4½ games, the biggest bulge of the year in the AL, when Pierce was shelved Monday for from five to eight days to nurse his ailing hip. Uninjured, Pierce would have pitched either Wednesday or Thursday against Baltimore. Without him, the Sox dropped both games while second place Cleveland took two from Washington.

The Orioles counted 10 runs in the two games, beating Barry Latman 7-6 Thursday for the White Sox' fourth defeat in the last five games.

Cleveland continued its rebound from a four-game slump by belting Washington 6-1 behind Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Detroit walloped the Yankees 14-2, and Boston overcame three home runs by Kansas City's Bob Cerv for an 11-10 decision over the A's.

In the National League, San Francisco retained a two-game edge and dropped third place Milwaukee four games behind with a 5-3 victory over the Braves. Second place Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 8-5. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1, and the Chicago Cubs split a twi-night doubleheader at Philadelphia, winning 6-4 after an 8-5 defeat.

The Orioles tagged Latman (5-5) and six relievers for 13 hits.

Rookie Jim McAnany drove in three runs for the White Sox, who had 10 hits and made it close with two runs in the seventh off Billy Loes after winner Hoyt Wilhelm (12-8) was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Two home runs did it for the Indians. Ed FitzGerald smacked his first of the year and Woody Held then cracked a 1-1 tie with a two run shot, his 23rd, in the seventh against loser Pet Ramos (11-15). Grant (8-5) lost his shutout in the sixth on a walk, sacrifice and Bob Allison's double.

Milt Bolling, who hammered two home runs, and Gail Harris each drove in six runs for the Tigers. Jim Bunning (12-10) beat the Yankees for the first time this season with a five-hitter. Gary Blaylock lost it in his first AL decision.

Rookie Earl Wilson, driving in three runs with a single and a double, won his first major league decision as the third of five Red Sox pitchers. Tom Sturdivant (1-5) was the loser for the A's.

Round Table, Wiggle II Favored At Arlington

CHICAGO (AP) — Round Table, the all-time money winning champion of Travis Kerr, is having girl trouble.

A strapping filly from Australia, Wiggle II, wants to cut in on his earnings.

The enormous-striding 4-year-old, is given a pretty good chance of doing so in Saturday's $100,000 added Arlington Handicap at Arlington Park.

Round Table must carry his usual high weight of 132 pounds for the mile and three-sixteenths race on the grass. Wiggle II gets in at 105.

Wiggle II, to be ridden by Dick Barnett, took the winner's share of $34,050 in the Arlington Matron last Saturday in beating Honey's Gem by three lengths in the 1⅛ miles event. It was her first major U.S. victory after winning 15 of 26 starts in Australia and boosted her loot in two years to about $105,806.

Wiggle II is owned by Bill Godby, now acting as her groom.

Round Table was a disappointing third in the recent Equipoise Mile but never has been beaten in nine grass races in Chicago. Round Table, again with Willie Shoemaker aboard, can pass the 1½ million dollar mark with victory in the Arlington Handicap. His up-to-date winnings are $1,466,139.

Wiggle II and Round Table are expected to face six others.

They are Tudor Era (111 pounds including Bill Hartack), Noureddin (109), second to Round Table in the Stars and Stripes; Terrang (108), winner of three stakes; Manassas (107), winner of the Arlington Handicap two years ago: Jack Ketch (102), an Irish-bred runner, and Anxious Moment (104).

Bailey Opens Door, Dodgers Trip Reds, 8-5

CINCINNATI (AP)—The night of Thursday, August 20, will go down in Ed Bailey's book as "Black Thursday."

Bailey has had a lot of hitting troubles in the last couple of years or so but he probably never has had anything to compare with Thursday night.

The biggest black mark, of course, was a side-retiring third strike on Danny McDevitt that the catcher from Strawberry Plains, Tenn., let get away from him in the fifth inning of the game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

McDevitt reached first safely and from there the Dodgers went on a rampage that produced seven unearned runs and gave them a cushion for an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati.

But that's only part of the story of Bailey's "Black Thursday."

In the second inning he struck out with a man on base. In the fourth he ended the inning by flying out with two men on. He was hit by a pitched ball in the sixth but in the eighth he struck out with two on.

That all adds up to five men he left on bases or failed to advance during the course of the game.

Bailey's bobble Thursday night was disastrous. Until then, Bob Purkey had allowed the Dodgers only two hits and seemed in perfect control of the situation.

After McDevitt reached first, the roof caved in. A single by Jim Gilliam and a double by Charley Neal produced two runs. A walk to Wally Moon and Norm Larker's home run meant three more. The sixth run came on Chuck Essegian's double and Ron Fairly's single.

They took pity on Purkey then and brought in Willard Schmidt but he yielded another run on a double by John Roseboro before getting the side out.

At that, the Reds threw a scare into the Dodgers. They had the bases loaded in the ninth when reliever Larry Sherry finally got the side out.

The Reds got a run in the fourth on a double by Vada Pinson and a single by Willie Jones and they added two more in the fifth. Those came on a double by Eddie Kasko, a single by Johnny Temple, a single by Pinson and an error by Don Zimmer.

Frank Robinson doubled and Jones singled for another tally in the eighth and pinch hitter Frank Thomas cracked a home run in the ninth in Cincinnati's dying threat.

Giants Smell Series '$' Win Those 'Big' Games

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants smell World Series money. And they're coming up with the big victories in their drive for the National League pennant.

"Those are the kind we have to win," said Manager Bill Rigney Thursday night after the Giants choked off a late Milwaukee bid to stagger to a 5-3 triumph over the inconsistent Braves.

The Giants were keyed up long after the game which enabled them to hold their two-game advantage on runnerup Los Angeles and drop the Braves four lengths behind.

"Those ninth inning chills are rough," said Rigney when he permitted newsmen in the clubhouse some 10 minutes after the finish. "Some of these ninth innings certainly can be long."

The Braves threw a scare into the Giants by pushing across a run in the ninth. With runners on first and third, San Francisco's right-hander Sam Jones got Hank Aaron, the league's No. 1 batter, to ground into a force play.

The Braves weren't very happy, but were far from discouraged after missing out on a big opportunity to close in on the Giants.

"We still can do it," said Manager Fred Haney. "We're just going to have to cash in our opportunities. We're not out of it yet."

White Sox Miss Pierce; Edged By Baltimore, 7-6

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody ask how much the Chicago White Sox would miss Billy Pierce? So far, the injured left-hander has missed one starting assignment and their American League lead is down to 2½ games, almost cut in half.

The White Sox led by 4½ games, the biggest bulge of the year in the AL, when Pierce was shelved Monday for from five to eight days to nurse his ailing hip. Uninjured, Pierce would have pitched either Wednesday or Thursday against Baltimore. Without him, the Sox dropped both games while second place Cleveland took two from Washington.

The Orioles counted 10 runs in the two games, beating Barry Latman 7-6 Thursday for the White Sox' fourth defeat in the last five games.

Cleveland continued its rebound from a four-game slump by belting Washington 6-1 behind Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Detroit walloped the Yankees 14-2, and Boston overcame three home runs by Kansas City's Bob Cerv for an 11-10 decision over the A's.

In the National League, San Francisco retained a two-game edge and dropped third place Milwaukee four games behind with a 5-3 victory over the Braves. Second place Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 8-5. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1, and the Chicago Cubs split a twi-night doubleheader at Philadelphia, winning 6-4 after an 8-5 defeat.

The Orioles tagged Latman (5-5) and six relievers for 13 hits.

Rookie Jim McAnany drove in three runs for the White Sox, who had 10 hits and made it close with two runs in the seventh off Billy Loes after winner Hoyt Wilhelm (12-8) was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Two home runs did it for the Indians. Ed FitzGerald smacked his first of the year and Woody Held then cracked a 1-1 tie with a two run shot, his 23rd, in the seventh against loser Pet Ramos (11-15). Grant (8-5) lost his shutout in the sixth on a walk, sacrifice and Bob Allison's double.

Milt Bolling, who hammered two home runs, and Gail Harris each drove in six runs for the Tigers. Jim Bunning (12-10) beat the Yankees for the first time this season with a five-hitter. Gary Blaylock lost it in his first AL decision.

Rookie Earl Wilson, driving in three runs with a single and a double, won his first major league decision as the third of five Red Sox pitchers. Tom Sturdivant (1-5) was the loser for the A's.

Round Table, Wiggle II Favored At Arlington

CHICAGO (AP) — Round Table, the all-time money winning champion of Travis Kerr, is having girl trouble.

A strapping filly from Australia, Wiggle II, wants to cut in on his earnings.

The enormous-striding 4-year-old, is given a pretty good chance of doing so in Saturday's $100,000 added Arlington Handicap at Arlington Park.

Round Table must carry his usual high weight of 132 pounds for the mile and three-sixteenths race on the grass. Wiggle II gets in at 105.

Wiggle II, to be ridden by Dick Barnett, took the winner's share of $34,050 in the Arlington Matron last Saturday in beating Honey's Gem by three lengths in the 1⅛ miles event. It was her first major U.S. victory after winning 15 of 26 starts in Australia and boosted her loot in two years to about $105,806.

Wiggle II is owned by Bill Godby, now acting as her groom.

Round Table was a disappointing third in the recent Equipoise Mile but never has been beaten in nine grass races in Chicago. Round Table, again with Willie Shoemaker aboard, can pass the 1½ million dollar mark with victory in the Arlington Handicap. His up-to-date winnings are $1,466,139.

Wiggle II and Round Table are expected to face six others.

Killer To Die In San Quentin Gas Chamber

By HARRY JUPITER

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—After running most of his life, Stephen Nash was scheduled to walk to his death today in the San Quentin prison gas chamber.

The execution was set for 10 a.m. PDT.

The gaunt, hypnotic-eyed knifer spent the last two of his 36 years of life in isolation on death row—isolated because of his fellow murderers sickened of his boast that he killed at least 11 men and boys.

He never had a visitor, and there was no one to claim his body.

Arrested on Los Angeles' skid row in 1956 when police found a bloody knife in his pocket, Nash admitted killing 10-year-old Larry Rice under a Santa Monica pier and John Berg, 26, in Berg's Long Beach apartment.

Convicted of those two murders, he confessed many others. Three, in San Francisco, Sacramento and Richmond, Calif., were verified by police. They believed the others, too, but found no proof.

Nash relished describing the way his victims died, just as he relished his last dinner of steak and pie.

When Superior Judge H. Burton Noble of Los Angeles sentenced Nash to die, he called the lanky, toothless stabber "the most evil person who ever appeared in my court." Nash merely smiled, in the same way he did when he refused spiritual comfort on his last day of life.

Woman Dies In Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seventy-year-old Mrs. Sam Lee died Thursday night in her bedroom adjoining the laundry she operated here when fire swept through the building. Flames and smoke forced back two men who tried to rescue the aged woman. Firemen listed damage at about $5,000 and were unable to determine what started the blaze.

'YOUR MOVE!' Robert Burgess and Rebecca Horner are the checker champions of district playgrounds. They won the titles Thursday afternoon when, as "Ohio" champions, they defeated James Obenour of 3rd St., Chester, and Bobbie Lou Boyles of 4th St., Newell, the "West Virginia" champs. Young Burgess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Burgess of Staunton Ave., Glenmoor, and Miss Horner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horner of Dakota Ave. They represented the Glenmoor and Pleasant Heights playgrounds, respectively. The tournament was supervised by Jim Harris.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Mother Was A Slave But Finally Revolted

Slowly going are the days when the mother slaved at bringing up her son's or daughter's children; when, as each new grandchild arrived, this mother took over the household and continued indefinitely to be maid, baby sitter and nurse in times of illness. Yet there are still more of these slaving grandmothers than is generally known. The tragedy of it is that the slaving grandmother usually suffers heartaches from the sordid lack of appreciation from her son or daughter.

By Garry Meyers

Sometimes the married son or daughter has made good in a business or profession, when appreciation might naturally be expected.

WRITING from New Mexico and reflecting on an earlier article in this column, which pointed out that many conscientious parents incline to bring up their children to be selfish, a mother recalls the years she slaved for her only son, his wife and children:

"For 10 years I was called when the babies came, when there was illness, and not to 'baby sit' but to do the work while my son and his wife went on business and pleasure trips.

"After being the goat for 10 years, with no response on their part as to what effort they could make so that life would be easier for me, and no help or consideration when I did not feel well, I told them I was done with doing for them."

The mother adds: "My son has not gone wrong. He's an important executive officer of his company, well-liked for his good character, honesty and integrity."

The mother also tells of her earlier struggles in poverty, as the eldest of five children,, losing both parents before she was fifteen, going to work then and attending high school at night; marrying a hardworking cabinet maker who had also helped support six younger brothers and sisters.

When their one child was born both parents were bent on his best opportunities.

"OUR SON'S studies and school projects were ours to study also. Our dining room table had school work on it most of the time."

How wonderful!

This boy finished high school at the head of his class and excelled in all subjects at the university.

Obviously, his parents had set the stage for his academic educational achievement. While duly proud of her son's accomplishments, the mother now rightly regrets that he had also missed something precious in his upbringing.

Record-Breaking White Vote Trims Memphis Negro

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A record breaking white vote smothered the first all-out Negro political campaign in the history of this Mississippi River city of the Deep South.

Russell B. Sugarmon Jr. a 30-year-old Negro lawyer, finished second in a race for public works commissioner that had jittery segregationists predicting catastrophe.

The final count gave Sugarmon 35,237 votes. He lost to a white "Unity Ticket" candidate, William W. Farris, by about 23,000 votes.

The predicted heavy vote for Negro candidates came as advertised, but the uproar of the campaign spurred the total turnout Thursday to a whopping 129,868. The previous record for a city election was 86,370.

The Rev. Ben L. Hooks, a Negro lawyer and preacher who ranked as a possible victor in the race for juvenile judge, lost by about 21,000 votes. He ran against three white candidates.

Fall Kills Man

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said James H. Wallace, 58, whose body was found in Mill Creek Thursday, apparently fell down a 60-foot embankment at Warner Road Bridge over the creek.

Ohio, Indiana Teams Victors In Baton Twirling

LAKEVIEW, Ohio (AP)—Batons and boots flashed here Thursday in team competition at the ninth annual International Majorette Contest.

The Celina, Ohio, High-Steppers took top honors in the senior (age 15 and over) international drill team event. The 18-member team was captained by Barb Boise of Celina.

The other drill event was won by the Harlan Hi-Lights, headed by Myrtie Bartle of Rt. 2, Cabill, Ind. They were the only team entered in the junior (age 12-14) class.

Senior twirling contest honors went to St. Catharine's High-Steppers, led by Miss Majorette of Ontario, Joan Lounsburg, St. Catherine, Ont.

Also in the event, taking fourth place where the Mansfield Majorettes. Carol Marietta of Mansfield, headed the group.

The Wilkins Virginiattes led competition in the junior international twirling contest. The group was headed by Katherne Wilkins, Portsmouth, Va.

Mrs. Klumpp Renews Bid To Escape Chair

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edythe Klumpp today resumes her fight in Hamilton County Criminal Court to escape death in Ohio's electric chair.

The 41-year-old blonde divorcee and mother of four was convicted July 2 of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, her lover's estranged wife. The jury failed to recommend mercy which made the death sentence mandatory.

However, her attorney, William F. Hopkins, immediately filed a motion for a new trial and that was to be argued today before Judge Frank M. Gusweiler.

If the judge turns down the motion immediately he is expected to sentence Mrs. Klumpp at once. There would be a delay in the sentencing if he takes the motion under advisement.

Any execution date set by Judge Gusweiler would be only tentative, however, because Hopkins has said he will appeal the conviction if the new trial is denied. An appeal would mean stays of execution until the higher courts rule in the case.

Hopkins based his new trial motion on claims the verdict was contrary to the weight of the evidence; that the court erred in overruling his motions to dismiss the case during the trial; that there was misconduct on the part of a juror and that there was prejudicial and inflamatory argument by prosecutor C. Watson Hover and his aides.

Mrs. Klumpp was convicted of having shot Mrs. Bergen to death last Oct. 30 in a meeting on a secluded park street. She admitted she kept the body in her automobile over night and then burned it the next day on the shore of Lake Cowan in Clinton County.

She contended, however, the shooting was an accident. She testified Mrs. Bergen pointed the gun at her and that it was discharged as they fought for possession of it.

Mrs. Bergen's husband, William, had been living with Mrs. Klumpp as man and wife for about five months. The state claimed Mrs. Klumpp feared Bergen was going to return to his wife and that she also needed his financial support to save her home from auction.

The gun belonged to Bergen and was in Mrs. Klumpp's car. She declared, however, she had used it for target shooting and forgotten to take it out of the automobile.

Mrs. Klumpp, twice divorced, was a part time sewing teacher and also operated a day boarding home for children.

Sailing To Europe May Cost But $50 In Next 2 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — In a couple of years you may be able to sail to Europe for $50.

Hyman B. Cantor, New York hotel and steamship operator, Thursday announced signing of preliminary contracts for two 90,000 gross ton liners, each capable of carrying 6,000 passengers, and said about 20 per cent of the passenger cabins — with private bath and toilet facilities — will sell for the $50 rate, east or west bound. The balance of choicer accomodations will be scaled to a maximum $125.

The fares do not include food. Passengers will pay for what they eat.

Cantor, head of Sea Coach Transatlantic Lines, Inc., said the vessels will have a 34-knot speed, enabling them to make the trip in four days.

The most inexpensive ship fare to Europe now is about $200, including food.

WRITING from New Mexico and reflecting on an earlier article in this column, which pointed out that many conscientious parents incline to bring up their children to be selfish, a mother recalls the years she slaved for her only son, his wife and children:

"For 10 years I was called when the babies came, when there was illness, and not to 'baby sit' but to do the work while my son and his wife went on business and pleasure trips.

"After being the goat for 10 years, with no response on their part as to what effort they could make so that life would be easier for me, and no help or consideration when I did not feel well, I told them I was done with doing for them."

The mother adds: "My son has not gone wrong. He's an important executive officer of his company, well-liked for his good character, honesty and integrity."

The mother also tells of her earlier struggles in poverty, as the eldest of five children, losing both parents before she was fifteen, going to work then and attending high school at night; marrying a hardworking cabinet maker who had also helped support six younger brothers and sisters.

When their one child was born both parents were bent on his best opportunities.

"OUR SON'S studies and school projects were ours to study also. Our dining room table had school work on it most of the time."

How wonderful!

This boy finished high school at the head of his class and excelled in all subjects at the university.

Obviously, his parents had set the stage for his academic educational achievement. While duly proud of her son's accomplishments, the mother now rightly regrets that he had also missed something precious in his upbringing.

Record-Breaking White Vote Trims Memphis Negro

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A record breaking white vote smothered the first all-out Negro political campaign in the history of this Mississippi River city of the Deep South.

Russell B. Sugarmon Jr. a 30-year-old Negro lawyer, finished second in a race for public works commissioner that had jittery segregationists predicting catastrophe.

The final count gave Sugarmon 35,237 votes. He lost to a white "Unity Ticket" candidate, William W. Farris, by about 23,000 votes.

The predicted heavy vote for Negro candidates came as advertised, but the uproar of the campaign spurred the total turnout Thursday to a whopping 129,868. The previous record for a city election was 86,370.

The Rev. Ben L. Hooks, a Negro lawyer and preacher who ranked as a possible victor in the race for juvenile judge, lost by about 21,000 votes. He ran against three white candidates.

Mrs. Klumpp Renews Bid To Escape Chair

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edythe Klumpp today resumes her fight in Hamilton County Criminal Court to escape death in Ohio's electric chair.

The 41-year-old blonde divorcee and mother of four was convicted July 2 of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, her lover's estranged wife. The jury failed to recommend mercy which made the death sentence mandatory.

However, her attorney, William F. Hopkins, immediately filed a motion for a new trial and that was to be argued today before Judge Frank M. Gusweiler.

If the judge turns down the motion immediately he is expected to sentence Mrs. Klumpp at once. There would be a delay in the sentencing if he takes the motion under advisement.

Any execution date set by Judge Gusweiler would be only tentative, however, because Hopkins has said he will appeal the conviction if the new trial is denied. An appeal would mean stays of execution until the higher courts rule in the case.

Hopkins based his new trial motion on claims the verdict was contrary to the weight of the evidence; that the court erred in overruling his motions to dismiss the case during the trial; that there was misconduct on the part of a juror and that there was prejudicial and inflamatory argument by prosecutor C. Watson Hover and his aides.

Mrs. Klumpp was convicted of having shot Mrs. Bergen to death last Oct. 30 in a meeting on a secluded park street. She admitted she kept the body in her automobile over night and then burned it the next day on the shore of Lake Cowan in Clinton County.

She contended, however, the shooting was an accident. She testified Mrs. Bergen pointed the gun at her and that it was discharged as they fought for possession of it.

Mrs. Bergen's husband, William, had been living with Mrs. Klumpp as man and wife for about five months. The state claimed Mrs. Klumpp feared Bergen was going to return to his wife and that she also needed his financial support to save her home from auction.

The gun belonged to Bergen and was in Mrs. Klumpp's car. She declared, however, she had used it for target shooting and forgotten to take it out of the automobile.

Mrs. Klumpp, twice divorced, was a part time sewing teacher and also operated a day boarding home for children.

Sailing To Europe May Cost But $50 In Next 2 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — In a couple of years you may be able to sail to Europe for $50.

Hyman B. Cantor, New York hotel and steamship operator, Thursday announced signing of preliminary contracts for two 90,000 gross ton liners, each capable of carrying 6,000 passengers, and said about 20 per cent of the passenger cabins — with private bath and toilet facilities — will sell for the $50 rate, east or west bound. The balance of choicer accomodations will be scaled to a maximum $125.

The fares do not include food. Passengers will pay for what they eat.

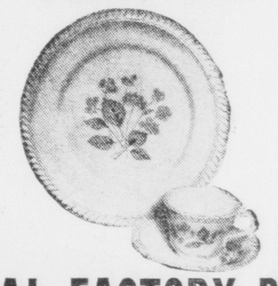

Cantor, head of Sea Coach Transatlantic Lines, Inc., said the vessels will have a 34-knot speed, enabling them to make the trip in four days.

The most inexpensive ship fare to Europe now is about $200, including food.
